Railroad Near To Real Water Road

Freeze-Up of Waters Lesser Slave Lake Perils N. A. R.

Flood Gates of Inland Sea Continuing Rise to High Levels

Possibility of all sections of Northern Alberta and British Columbia, north of Smith, Alberta, serviced by the Northern Alberta Railways, being cut off from rail communication with the outside world within three months, was outlined to a Bulletin reporter Wednesday by John Callaghan, general manager of the railroad.

Unless flood waters of the Lesser Slave Lake which are now inundating more than four miles of our track recedes before winter freeze-up, all the country north of Smith will be without train service until the spring thaw," stated the N.A.R. chief.

Mr. Callaghan returned to his Edmonton office Monday after spending two weeks personally supervising rail repair operations in flooded areas.

CONTINUES RISE

"Instead of receding now in order that our main line might be free of water before it freezes, Slave Lake is continuing to rise to increasingly high levels—levels that have never before been reached in the history of our service of the north.

"This year's flood is directly attributable to failure of federal authorities to dredge the mouth of the Lesser Slave river, the only outlet of Lesser Slave Lake, increasing accumulations of drift

ITALY-ETHIOPIAN WAR INEVITABLE

TORY SWING TO STEVENS IS MARKED

Bennett Has War Chest But Former Cabinet Member Has Popular Support

OTTAWA, Ont., July 10.—Conservative supporters in Ottawa today are on the horns of a dilemma. In the Stevens camp there is great jubilation, and the current report is that some sixty Conservative members of the House of Commons and senators are lining up behind the man they believe will be the next leader of the opposition and of necessity their party leader after the general elections.

A big factor in the Stevens boom is the resentment felt by members over the action of the prime minister in holding up appointments to the sixteen vacant senatorships, three commissionerships and a number of judgeships. The prime minister held these appointments as a club over the members' heads during the session in order to keep them in line, but now with the session over resentment is doubly keen and the revolt has broken out in earnest.

While it is conceded that the prime minister will control the war chest of the National Liberal

The camp clean-up was made without disorder.

BEATINGS DOT PICKETS' WAR IN VANCOUVER

Continued Assaults as Waterfront Workers War At Docks

VANCOUVER, July 10.—Overnight activities of pickets of striking longshoremen led to assaults on three waterfront workers and the arrest of three men. Windows were broken in a worker's home and pickets were reported guarding several other houses.

Two days of a working longshoreman with carefully aimed rocks drove a number of pickets from their home.

Arrested are James Milroy, charged with intimidating a worker; and David Anderson and Bert Howell, charged with assault.

Several workers or their families have complained that they have been threatened or that their homes are being picketed.

SCOW SERVICE IS ABANDONED AT SLAVE LAKE

Indians State Lake is Reaching Level of 1870, Highest Known

SLAVE LAKE, July 10.—With the waters of Lesser Slave lake now 12 feet above the normal level and continuing to rise, the government has now abandoned the scow service south of this village, down the Little Slave river, which was the only remaining means of egress from this country for motorists. Scows have been used to transport cars across two stretches, one five miles long, the other 20 miles.

The lake level is nearing the mark which shows on the land as its level in the early seventies, the highest known level, as confirmed by aged Indians whose parents lived in the district at that time.

Unless the lake reaches its peak within the next week, and stops rising, the country will have to depend on power boats for covering that portion of the railway which will have to be abandoned.

A storm from the west now will likely send half the buildings in the town crashing or at least move them from their foundations. Inhabitants who have already moved tents on high ground are still cheerful, but will soon have to be looked after by the government. They will likely have to be provided with new homes elsewhere.

NEW YORK, July 10.—Standing at this half-way house of the year —what can we see ahead for business?

In appraising the past we find business trends strongly influenced by the performances of the capital goods industries, foreign trade and government spending.

Foreign trade we may eliminate as a factor in shaping our own economic life in the immediate future. This leaves public spending and private heavy goods industries to be included.

There is no force apparent now

VANCOUVER RELIEF WORKERS RETURN TO CAMPS

PREVIOUS ACTION IS CONFIRMED AT MEETING TUESDAY

ABERHART NOW OUT OF TUNE HOWSON SAYS

women and youths keenly interested in the proceedings, a fact largely commented upon by each of the speakers. A lunch counter was hastily rigged, that those unable to get into the meeting might hear all the speeches.

BRUDERHEIM IS LIBERAL

Bruderheim poll is proud of an unbroken record. Since the town's inception which covers a long period of years no ballot boxes in any election have been opened which have not given a good Liberal majority. Dr. E. A. Archer reminded the meeting of that fact in a brief speech, and his prediction that the record would remain unbroken at the approaching provincial and federal elections was received with acclaim by the meeting.

Urging the electorate to view the Aberhart display of "pretty pictures" through eyes of common sense reason, Mr. Howson stated his belief that while this Pied Piper attracted an early parade with his audible music, the piper had gone out of tune and disillusioned dancers were dropping away at every step.

"The blindfold is off and the people's eyes are now wide open. That perfect circle they drew, with its pulsating bloodstream comparable to the human body. They forgot to remind that circle must have to put sustenance into the body to keep the blood pulsating. Their perfect circle bloodstream becomes anaemic. Where are they going to get that $120,000,000 a year they propose to hand out each month to every adult, for that is what the Aberhart system bloodstream has to be fed with.

ADDING TAXATION

"I'll tell you where they will have to get it. By adding still more and more taxation to the already taxwrecked home, farm and business. No matter whether they use the term 'levy' or not, it is still one gigantic added tax scheme, adding debt to debt in a futile effort to devise ways.

"The agriculturist would be hit twice by the Aberhart scheme, said Mr. Howson, as he is both producer and consumer and would be "levied upon" both ways.

TWO CHIEFS VISUALIZED

Visualizing upon the platform two groups of people as social credit basic dividend recipients, Mr. Howson received considerable applause and approval. On the one hand he pictured Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, Senator Pat Burns of Calgary, John Gillespie of Edmonton, and other men of wealth holding out a hand he lined up in imagination as aged widowed mother, a crippled war veteran, a struggling father of a big family, and a bankrupt farmer.

Under the Aberhart plan all these people in symbolism would sit there waiting to collect their $25 monthly basic dividend all being entitled to it. Then he asked his audience whether the same spirit of charity and goodwill in which they paid the second group could be extended to the figurative Messrs. Bennett, Burns, Gillespie and pie.

Furthering his speech, Mr. Howson outlined the manner in which the assembled social, educational, laboring and industrial life of Alberta had all contributed to the formation of the revised provincial Liberal platform, the contribution of a complete cross-section of Alberta everyday life. He emphasized that new marketing avenues, reduction of freight rates, lowering of tariffs, changes in taxation systems, and last but in no means least a complete and sweeping commission sense monetary reform of real practical social credit were the main planks.

In a sweeping indictment of the U.F.A. government, Mr. Howson cited legislation received on the plea that in the past years expenditures leaped upwards to a staggering figure, new taxes and increased-building imposts were piled up-while at the same time the U.F.A. government cut to the bone all the humanitarian grants such as schools, hospitals, old age pensions. While all this the U.F.A. government refused to slice the wages of money by a two-year reduction of their interest audited by the Liberals, every U.F.A. member opposing the move.

In federal interests, Hon. C. S. McCallum reminded hearers that the electorate of Canada must bear part-blame for the present failure of government—as they had empowered him to carry out his precision policies while the prime minister had implemented his promises, he had run wild, particularly with regard to tariff raising which had gone far beyond the bounds of reason in many cases. Recited a $28,000,000 Alberta loss last year, due solely to Bennett tariffs walls and asserted that 700,000 Albertans must pay $20,000,000 annually as a bonus to Eastern Canada manufacturers as a result of present tariffs.

Other speakers were Dr. E. A. Archer and Otto Noack, president of Clover Bar Liberal Association. Mr. H. G. Maschmeyer presided.

Fears Relieved

PARIS, July 10.—Police ban on the hammer and sickle flag of the Soviet Union today allayed fears of possible clashes on Bastille Day, Sunday.

Men Advised by B.C. Government That They Would be Cut Off Relief Unless They Returned At Camps.

VANCOUVER, July 10.—Relief camp workers in Vancouver attending meeting Tuesday afternoon decided definitely to go back to the camps.

This supplemented a decision made Monday along similar lines but which had the provision that certain concessions should first be made concerning discrimination and blacklisting.

NOTIFIED BY GOVT.

Advised by the British Columbia government that there would be no further relief for those who did not go back and that direction of administration of Dominion camps was outside its jurisdiction, the men made their conforming decision Tuesday to go back.

After the meeting they proceeded to Hamilton Hall to request further relief. Registratin of those desiring to go to camps will be continued today.

About 800 men arrived in Vancouver Sunday morning ending their trek to have been met in Ottawa but which ended in a riot in Regina.

217 REGISTERED

Men formerly in British Columbia camps who registered Tuesday numbered 217. Of these 151 were from Vancouver, 66 from work in the lower Fraser Valley late yesterday. The remaining 66 were found physically unfit, most of them temporarily, and will be kept in the city until they recover.

An additional 180 men registered and made statutory declarations that they had never been in British Columbia before. They will also be sent to camps in this province.

It was expected the entire group will be moved from Regina will be in camps by the end of the week.

TORY SWING TO STEVENS IS MARKED

Conservative party, members and senators who are flocking to the Stevens banner are not alarmed and they have expressed the opinion that even without Hon. Stevens will capture seventy-five per cent of the Conservative seats.

As one prominent Conservative senator put it tersely today: "Bennett's big fix seems to be in. The popular opinion behind him and will come out of this the victor over the prime minister."

That a Liberal government will be in office after the election is conceded by all parties, but they believe that Hon. H. H. Stevens will be the leader of the official opposition in the next parliament.

NORTH FACING ISOLATION IF FREEZE COMES

wood and sand at the mouth of the river have resulted in the outlet being closed to outgoing waters of the lake. Dominion officials have been aware of the danger of flood since 1921 when a survey was conducted," said Mr. Callaghan, "but no action followed submission of a lengthy and comprehensive report at that time."

"Last year the lake froze before excess water drained off and this occurrence, together with unprecedented rains this season, have combined to cause floods in the Lesser Slave Lake area," he added.

"As far as we know, there has been no government action to combat these floods. Action is needed. Surveys are useless. We understand there is a government official up north at present looking over the situation but such action is futile. The government knows what is wrong," the rail official heatedly declared.

"We can combat washouts and minor damage caused by heavy rains" he said, referring to trouble being experienced on the McLennan-Dawson-Peace branch on which service has been temporarily halted by rains, "but we cannot overcome a condition which is plainly attributable to the Dominion government."

GRADUALLY INCREASING

"Flood waters have been gradually increasing since 1928. We are doing our best to keep our track clear of ice and debris of water but as there are many miles of track menaced the water is gaining on us. It is impossible up to public authorities to take immediate action to remedy the confusion of ice and drift wood that is piling up the Slave Lake river.

"Our latest reports reveal that the highest depth of water on our track is 28 inches with absolutely no sign of abatement," said Mr. Callaghan.

Expressing belief that, even with immediate action, it would necessitate up to three years to bring the Slave Lake track up to its proper level, Mr. Callaghan stated that the flooding lake is now so big that it is draining slightly into Mitsue lake, a body of water of unusually high level which formerly drained into the Lesser Slave. The drainage, however, is not sufficient to affect the flood waters of the latter lake.

MILES UNDER WATER

Approximately 500 square miles of land are now under waters of the Lesser Slave, normal area of which is 462 square miles. Crops in the vicinity of the lake are hopelessly ruined, Mr. Callaghan stated.

The reporter was shown pictures of sections of the C.N.R. track which are at present under water. Some of them were taken by Mr. Callaghan himself during his sojourn in the flooded areas.

What the N. A. R. wants impressed on Dominion authorities is the will do all in its power to maintain train service, but resources of the railroad are powerless in the face of the flooding waters in the Lesser Slave area.

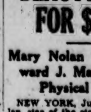

"How do you expect our men to maintain a track suitable for trains when they have to work under more than two feet of water?" demanded the general manager. "The track itself can't

Locate Chamber Where Ivan The Terrible Put Victims To The Torture

By JOHN LLOYD
Associated Press Foreign Staff

MOSCOW, July 10.—Moscow's new subway excavators announced Tuesday they had discovered the underground chamber where Ivan the Terrible was said to have tortured his victims nearly four centuries ago.

Definite proof was declared to have been obtained that a chamber and passageway beneath the centre of the city near the spot where the Lenin library is under construction was Ivan's dreaded "Henchmen's Court."

There, according to the stories told in Russia, Ivan had his victims torn to pieces by bears and, sometimes, buried alive.

The subway diggers came across it last winter upon investigating white sand discovered under a razed dwelling. Geologists said the sand had been brought from some distant place. Further digging led the workmen to the remains of a court and passages which once connected it with the Czar's palace.

Ivan is popularly supposed to have ordered the underground of the underground passages in 1565 so he could watch his henchmen torture his victims. The German adventurer, Heinrich Staden, known as the undertaker of Ivan, wrote memoirs in which it was said the courtyard was damp and that Ivan, consequently, had ordered it covered with sand.

Elihu Stewart, Father Of City Barrister, Dies

Pioneer surveyor of western Canada; teacher of some of the nation's leading surveyors of today and close friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, died at his home at Collingwood, Ont., on Tuesday. He was 91 years old.

Born at Port Lampton, Ont., on May 6, 1844, Mr. Stewart, after early education, embarked upon a surveyors career. He surveyed the townsite of Fort Francis, Ont. in 1870. In 1878 he did extensive work of a similar nature in northern Saskatchewan and in northern Ontario. He was president of the North Simcoe, Ont. Liberal Association for 20 years and in 1882 contested the Dominion general election in opposition to the late D'Alton McCarthy, K.C. While surveying he took a great interest in forestry and was one of the founders of the Ontario Forestry Association.

In 1897 he was asked by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to organize the Dominion Forestry Branch at Ottawa and was made first forestry superintendent for the nation. One of his first actions in this capacity was to establish the forestry farm at Indian Head and encourage tree planting on the prairies. He also organized the forest fire ranging services for the Dominion.

B. Bennett's statement in the house last week that it would be as soon as necessary preliminaries were completed.

Two Children Drown In Lake

HAILEYBURY, Ont., July 10.—Two children, Betty, five, and Patricia, seven, daughters of Wilfred Miller, Toronto, were drowned in Lake Temiskaming Tuesday. Patricia gave her life in an effort to rescue her sister.

Betty was seen to step on to a flimsy raft which sank and Patricia went to her aid. She was also swept into the lake. The bodies were recovered.

be expected to withstand effect of the flood."

Northern Alberia Railway is maintaining large repair gangs in the north but relentless rains have prevented extensive repair work and added to the depth of flood waters.

Areas which will be cut off from track communications this winter, unless the main line track is clear of water before freeze-up are the Lesser Slave Lake district, Peace River and Grande Prairie sections, and the western Peace River area, including the British Columbia block.

Rains Still Fall On Flooded Areas

Mercilessly beating down without a let-up for four days, relentless rains continued to fall on flooded territories in the Lesser Slave Lake district Wednesday.

Government telegraph service survey Wednesday morning writing that heavy rains were experienced Tuesday night at Grouard Point, Slave Lake Point, Mirror Landing, Point, and Athabasca Point. All these districts border on flood waters of the Lesser Slave Lake which has been out of control since the spring.

To add further to general concern, the government report notes heavy winds at all above-mentioned centres with the exception of Mirror Point Landing.

HOPES DAMPENED

Outlook for all flooded northern points is the exceptional storm of the Lesser Slave Lake district is more hopeful Wednesday, according to word received Canadian Airways Ltd. office. No rain was falling in several localities for the first time in the past four days. Foreboding clouds, however, dampened optimistic hopes of settlers.

Reports from the south end of due to swirling flood waters include the withdrawal of the ferry at Smith Landing by driftwood. Threatened drawal of the Dunvegan ferry for similar reasons. Also the washing away of the temporary trestle structure over the Burnt river, which recently replaced the steel structure that fell victim to the floods earlier in the season.

Northern Alberia Railways reported the situation in the north unchanged as far as conditions of travel are involved, but note with deep concern continued rains in the Lesser Slave area.

Elihu Stewart, Father Of City Barrister, Dies

Pioneer surveyor of western Canada; teacher of some of the nation's leading surveyors of today and close friend of the late Sir Wilfrid Laurier, died at his home at Collingwood, Ont., on Tuesday. He was 91 years old.

Born at Port Lampton, Ont., on May 6, 1844, Mr. Stewart, after early education, embarked upon a surveyors career. He surveyed the townsite of Fort Francis, Ont. in 1870. In 1878 he did extensive work of a similar nature in northern Saskatchewan and in northern Ontario. He was president of the North Simcoe, Ont. Liberal Association for 20 years and in 1882 contested the Dominion general election in opposition to the late D'Alton McCarthy, K.C. While surveying he took a great interest in forestry and was one of the founders of the Ontario Forestry Association.

In 1897 he was asked by Sir Wilfrid Laurier to organize the Dominion Forestry Branch at Ottawa and was made first forestry superintendent for the nation. One of his first actions in this capacity was to establish the forestry farm at Indian Head and encourage tree planting on the prairies. He also organized the forest fire ranging services for the Dominion.

He was one of the founders of the Canadian Forestry Association and was a member of the original board of directors of The Canadian Magazine.

FIRE, FAMINE STALKS WAKE CHINA FLOODS

Hundreds of Thousands Trapped Within Walls of Changteh

HANKOW, China, July 10—Official Chinese dispatches early today said dikes along the north bank of the Yangtze river collapsed 150 miles above Hankow early today, letting the waters boil over lowlands toward the Han river.

The city of Kienli, near where the breach in the dikes occurred, was submerged, the dispatches said.

Another important break in the dikes was reported at Mabukwi, 20 miles below Kienli.

Still another report said the Han river had broken through its dikes 50 miles above Hankow and its waters were pouring inland on both sides.

Communications throughout the Hankow area were shattered.

Famine Sure To Share Of Dead

Copyright, 1935, by Associated Press

CHANGTEH, Hunan Province, China, July 10.—Fire followed flood as Central China's mid-summer rivers raged down to the sea today, and famine stalked after, sure to claim his share of the dead.

HUNDREDS DEAD

With 25,000,000 persons in the path of the great Yangtze, and its roll of lives unchecked, hundreds, flood waters from the Yuan river and the Tung Ting lake besieging this city reached disaster stage.

Hundreds of thousands were trapped within the walls of Changteh as dike outside, save one, collapsed.

Fire broke out in various parts of the city unchecked, in which 100,000 Changteh homes already were submerged.

With crops, animals and farm homes wiped out by the water extending as far as the eye could see from the city, buildings still standing in Changteh, famine was sure to follow in the wake of the floods.

ONLY HAVEN

A small portion of Senchow within the city walls remains, like Changteh, the only haven of safety in the entire area, the advices continued.

As the waters of the Yuan river rose, Senchow victims clambered atop dikes most of which later collapsed, carrying those upon them to death.

Although the waters already have reached disaster proportions there in Shenchow, they are continuing to rise, the dispatches received here said.

PASTOR ASKS RELEASE OF MATT. SHAW

Toronto Citizens' League To Protest Arrest of Relief Striker

OTTAWA, July 10.—Rev. S. B. East, Regina pastor who has been active in organizing support of the relief camp strikers, Tuesday visited Hon. Hugh Guthrie, minister of justice, and requested that he order the release of Matt. Shaw who, it has had been arrested in the offices of the relief camp workers union in Toronto.

Mr. Guthrie replied he had no knowledge of the arrest and so far as he was aware it had been carried out by the Saskatchewan law officers which would place it beyond his immediate jurisdiction.

Shaw had been arrested, Mr. East said, as a member of an illegal association and was being taken to Regina. He was with the British Columbia strikers at Regina but had left for Ontario before the disorders which resulted in the death of a policeman.

Citizens Will Protest Arrest

TORONTO, July 10.—The "Toronto Citizens' League" will sponsor a meeting in Queen's Park Thursday to protest the arrest of Matt Shaw and others on 8th of the criminal code, it was announced Tuesday after a committee meeting. Dominion authorities were notified by wire of the league's stand.

Members of the committee included R. Smith, of the Canadian Labor Defence League; Graham Spry, C.C.F. organizer in Ontario; Rev. Salem Bland, and A. A. MacLeod, chairman.

The committee issued a statement in which it said Shaw's defence "now becomes our main task," and his arrest raised the "whole question of the sharpening struggle for the defence of civil rights and liberties and specifically the struggle against section 98 of the criminal code."

Borken is near Muenster, scene of last Sunday's dispute between Dr. Alfred Rosenberg, chief of the Nazi party's foreign office, and Bishop Clemens August.

Another development was an official bulletin sent out yesterday by Dr. Wilhelm Frick, minister of interior, warning Catholics not to expect special immunity from the sterilization law and warning of imprisonment for anyone who fought it.

Crop Outlook Is Unchanged

OTTAWA, July 10.—The general crop situation in the prairie provinces is unchanged from the excellent during the past week, according to the weekly crop report issued Tuesday by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The outlook remains satisfactory.

Favorable weather has made, however, with respect to drought in limited areas, excessive moisture and lateness of the season.

The report says:

Generous rains were again received over wide areas in the prairie provinces. But districts in south - western and west - central Saskatchewan and southern Alberta, where drought has been unusually severe, did not share in the rainfall of the past week to an appreciable extent.

POOLS FAVOR GRAIN BOARD LEGISLATION

Express Satisfaction That Measure Has Received Approval

WINNIPEG, July 10.—The present Canadian Grain Board grain bill contains all principles included in the original draft and the additional provisions should leave it just as satisfactory to western farmers as the original bill, a statement issued Tuesday by the central executive of the Canadian wheat pools stated.

"It is a matter of very great satisfaction to organized producers," the statement continued, "that the principle for which they have so long contended—that the wheat problem of Canada is a national problem—has received approval of all parties in our Canadian parliament."

IMPRESSION INCORRECT

Regarding leaving the impression that the amendments had been very drastic and that the bill as passed by parliament showed a complete reversal of policy were incorrect.

"It should, therefore, be made abundantly clear that the so-called compulsion clause which were in the original bill are in the pact as passed, but they do not become operative until proclaimed by the governor-in-council. There has been no change in the fundamental principles of the bill in any way would make it less satisfactory to producers.

"An amendment made by the senate and accepted by the house should correct the very misleading report that there was to be something in the nature of a fire sale of our present wheat surplus." In the clause concerning disposal of the surplus the words "as speedily" had been stricken out. "That means the wheat is to be disposed of as speedily as reasonably possible having regard to economic and other conditions.' This is an important change in wording and does, most certainly, not imply a reversal of selling policy.

HIGHER BASIC PRICE

"We feel satisfactory operation of the board this year will depend very largely on the initial basic price advanced to the producer when he delivers his wheat and we consider that no less than minimum price for No. 1 wheat for the present year may have to be higher than some people would consider adequate."

Some sections in the west had no crops for three, four or even five years. In those years crops were also very late. Rust, frost and other risks attending a late harvest, might be encountered, with a likelihood of a considerable percentage of the crop falling into low grades. "Unless minimum payment is large enough to give some purchasing power to producers, it will be necessary to continue farm relief on a large scale.

GOES INTO CIRCULATION

Every cent the farmer receives or his wheat goes immediately into circulation for necessities of life, for equipment, or to pay taxes or debts. He therefore feels a minimum price must take these facts into consideration, so that Canadian business and industry may share the benefits of increased purchasing power on the farm.

"Speaking of the bill as a whole, we feel the passing of this legislation is one of the most progressive steps taken by any parliament in Canada to deal with a situation that effects the entire Dominion."

CANADIAN IN BATTLE FOR GRAIN CONTROL

CHICAGO, July 10.—James F. Norris, brusque, ready tongued Canadian-born giant of sports and business, was embroiled in a new battle today. At stake was control of the Rosenbaum Grain Corporation and with it, technical supremacy in the Chicago Cash Grain Market.

The battlefield was the same one in which Norris gained possession of the huge Chicago stadium; sports and convention arena on Chicago's west side—the Federal bankruptcy court.

Aligned against the La Salle street veteran of 30 years trading wars were the Continental Grain Corporation, by fact, and by rumor the Cargill Elevator Company of Minneapolis and New York and the Rosenbaum family, whose gigantic firm last April filed a petition for reorganization under Section 77B of the National Bankruptcy Act.

Should Norris, president of the Norris Grain Company, gain approval of his offer to Federal Judge William H. Holly to take over the Rosenbaum Company, he would control elevators for additional millions of bushels of grain.

Traders said this would place Norris in a strategic position for hedging operations and possibly result in establishing him as one of the largest cash grain operators in North America.

Norris was the first to submit an offer for control of the assets of the $2,000,000 Rosenbaum Corporation.

Toronto Expects Hunger Marchers In City Saturday

TORONTO, July 10. — "Hunger marchers" from Hamilton and other parts of Ontario are expected to reach here Saturday on their way to Ottawa, T. King, unemployed organizer, announced Tuesday. He said 6,000 had signed throughout the province but only about 2,000 would move out of Toronto "when the time comes."

King said 1,000 Toronto men had signed registration cards pledging themselves to take part in the Ottawa trek.

The unemployed will interview Chief Constable D. C. Draper today, it was said, seeking permission to hold a sing day Saturday to finance the march.

King announced 800 marchers were approached North Bay who would head for a point just outside Ottawa where all marchers would congregate. They would then march into the capital in a body.

DEADLY ETHIOPIA CLIMATE ALLY AGAINST ITALY

BENITO'S SOLDIERS STRUCK DOWN BY TROPICAL FEVERS

Desert is Inferno — Two Million Fanatical Warriors Will Harass Invaders Who Withstand Heat

By PIERRE VAN PAASSEN
Bulletin Staff Foreign Writer

ROME, June 10.—The arrival from East Africa of hospital ships full of sick Italian soldiers suffering from malaria, enteric fever and dysentery makes it clear that the emperor of Abyssinia will have his greatest ally in the climate if a war should break out with Italy. It is no exaggeration to say that the climate of Abyssinia is more dangerous to the white man.

The Italian press, which stands under the direct inspiration of Signor Mussolini, cited the Boer War in Pierre Van Paassen South Africa the other day as a model robbery expedition by England, which it was, but the Italian press should not go there. It should take another lesson from that epic struggle of a small state against a mighty empire. Tens of thousands of British soldiers died on the fields of Transvaal from dysentery and other tropical diseases; in fact, more perished from disease than from the Boer bullets. And it should be remembered in this connection that the climate of South Africa is mild and moderate in comparison with that of Eritrea, Somaliland and Abyssinia.

HEAT IS KILLING

One hundred in the shade is normal in Abyssinia the year around. In summer the heat is infernal. I will give you one example: In the Red Sea, European crews in the stokeholes of vessels are replaced by blacks for the whole passage from Suez to Bab-el-Mandeb and vice versa. White men cannot stand the heat. Passengers sleep on deck. You simply cannot breathe in the cabins. There is no air.

But then again the Red Sea is a breeze-fanned paradise compared to Addis Ababa. In Addis Ababa a white man sweats so profusely that he cannot use a towel for fear of injuring his skin which has been rendered ultra-sensitive by the intense heat.

I know something about it, having spent eleven days in that place but recently when it was winter time. I am in perfectly good health but my skin became covered with blotches which presently inflamed. Even in the night when it is coolest, the perspiration streamed off my forehead and ran into my eyes.

Without the slightest movement you bathe in your own perspiration in Abyssinia. Even so, I was in a comfortable European hotel, with fans going night and day and cool drinks and a bathroom.

It is a different proposition out in the open, in the fields, in the blistering deserts through which the Italian troops would have to advance in the event of war.

ARE GOOD FIGHTERS

It is no secret that Britain had to exert all her strength to conquer the Boers. Yet at the height of that war the Transvaal Republic and the Orange Free State had but 50,000 men in the field. These untrained farmers (Boers is the Dutch word for farmers) inflicted serious defeats upon Britain's crack regiments at the Tugela, at Modderfontein and elsewhere before they were brought to their knees.

Now, Abyssinia can put two million warriors in the field and Italy is not Britain. Britain could fight indefinitely. Italy cannot fight for long without supplies of raw material from abroad, that is raw materials precisely from Great Britain. These raw materials, it is not too much to predict, will not be forthcoming if Italy should go to war against the express prohibition of the great powers represented in the League of Nations.

Leaving aside for the moment Britain's real motives for opposing an Italian conquest of Abyssinia, it stands to reason that if Italy goes ahead just the same, Great Britain will certainly not lift a finger in aid of Mussolini. To the contrary. In that event Italy is without question to be subjected to a certain pressure, if only in the economic field, on the part of Britain.

I cited the Boers because the Italian press is constantly harping on that subject. I know something on that subject. My early youth in Holland was spent in the shadow of the Boer War. I still know all the Boer battle songs by heart. I have many friends in South Africa to this day, one of them Premier Hertzog.

I read the principal Dutch newspapers of South Africa. I remember prayer-meetings of intercession for the Boers in the Calvinist churches of Holland. Many Boers came to Holland after the war and settled there. I've heard their stories. We admired their heroism. We read their books.

ENTHUSIASM WOULD WANE

The Boers are today British subjects. The Anglo-Boer animosity is gone. Relations have entered an entirely different phase. Perhaps the fate of South Africa is not definitely settled. But that's neither here nor there.

While I know something of the Boers, the race, their culture, their endurance and heroism, I know the Abyssinians better, because my observations on them are of far more recent date. Taking everything into consideration I would say the Abyssinians are even better fighters than the Boers. Italy will have no walk-over. It is quite possible that Italy will meet with a smashing defeat.

Abyssinia defeated Italy once before. The wild songs of war, which the excited young men are singing today in the streets of the Italian cities, mean nothing. All that enthusiasm will melt away in the scorching heat of the East African mountains. Epidemics of dysentery and malaria are deadly enemies. Mussolini knows all this. That is why he hesitates.

TO INSPECT CITY POLICE ON THURSDAY

Public Invited to Attend Annual Parade at Armories

If training counts for anything it will look like the Brigade of Guards on parade on Thursday when "Edmonton's Finest" go through their paces for annual inspection at the Prince of Wales armories at 3 p.m.

All their snappiest buttons shined, pants and coats pressed to a razor edge, white gloves and shoes with a mirror glint surface, the police department will click through its drill like one man when His Worship Mayor Clarke, the city council and commissioners turn out to see what Sergeant-Major Dan Fraser can do in the line of turning out smart squads of law protectors.

CHIEF HEADS FORCE

Chief Shute will be there at the head of his officers, Inspectors Matt Blackwood, Mike Kelly and Shaw.

Each line of spick and span "Bobbies" will be flanked by the sergeants, Reg. Jennings, Yance Nielsen, Donald Hynd and George Rait.

While Chief Shute and his inspectors look on, Sergeant-Major Dan Fraser, who runs the traffic squad and keeps the rank and file of the entire department up to scratch, will bark the orders to see the parade off into military formations.

MOBILE EQUIPMENT

And the Black Maria or Blue Lizzie will be among those present, but so will all other mobile equipment, so the department has no ulterior motive in bringing out the rolling jail cell. It's for inspection purposes only.

Readers of detective fiction will be disappointed, the plain-clothes department does not turn out.

The public is invited. The time —Thursday at 3 p.m.; the place—the Prince of Wales armories; the occasion—the annual inspection of Edmonton's police force.

SCHOOL DENTAL WORK IS HEAVY

Dental attention required by pupils in Edmonton schools is proving too great a task for the two dentists at present in the employ of the board, the trustees were told Tuesday, through Medical Superintendent Dr. Dunn, in presenting a request that a dental assistant or mechanic be engaged.

The board asked that a report be made by the superintendent as to the exact type of assistance required and the approximate additional costs of the assistance. Dr. Dunn explained that the request had come from the school dentists and not from him personally as he was not fully acquainted with the situation.

Flat feet is becoming more prevalent among school children, the medical report revealed. There were 30 cases observed during the month of June.

Dr. Dunn explained, however, this was a condition that varies from time to time.

The board desires it to be made known to parents of pre-primary children that medical examinations of these will not be made after August 1, as the medical staff will be taking a summer holidays after that date and the office will be closed.

A report of Guidance Director Dr. C. B. Willis, telling of his work in the past month, was filed.

PUBLIC SCHOOL STAFF INCREASED

Provisional appointments, numbering eleven, and the filling of two vacancies as the result of retirements, increased the staffs of Edmonton Public and High schools by 13 as a result of appointments made by the School board Tuesday night.

Miss Alma M. Harris, B.A., was appointed to the position formerly occupied on the Eastwood High school staff by Miss H. M. Carswell, who has retired, and Miss Evelyn MacLennan, B.A., will succeed Miss G. C. McGavin, who has resigned from the staff of Westmount High school.

Of the eleven provisional appointments made to care for increased number of pupils and additional courses, seven are women and four males.

The women teachers, selected from a large list of applicants, are as follows:

Miss E. M. Brooks, Miss K. Moore, Miss Grace Crnak, Miss B. Barnett, Miss Viola Zimmer, Miss M. Jackson and Miss E. M. Brazil.

The new teachers are: K. Argue, E. H. Anderson, H. Garry and John Kulak.

CONSTRUCTION HOLDING HOPE BETTER TIMES

which would justify us in supposing that business would be more brisk for the balance of the summer than it has been. There is just one possibility. That is that many building plans projected last winter and a little slow in getting under way may now be pushed with energy. But there are not enough such plans to give us much hope in that direction.

However, a summer recession would be a blessing in one fervent thing. There is, however, every reason to believe that business will resume its activity with the coming of the fall. The chief reason for this is to be found in the government's policy.

BANKERS EXPECT BORROWING TO GAIN

A great deal of reliance is placed by many business men on the mounting reserves of the banks. Bankers have now vast funds to lend. They are certainly eager to lend them. Some bankers think the jam cannot go on forever and that presently borrowers will begin to turn up. If this happens it must come from one or all three sources:

1—Replacement in industry. Factories have been wearing out their machines. Even machines standing still grow old and obsolete. They must be many factories in need of new machinery. The moment must come when obsolescence must be repaired. Has that time come yet?

2—Under the NRA many industries made it difficult for manufacturers to buy new machinery. This was part of the plan to restrict production. That is past. Perhaps it will release some machinery-buying energy.

3—The other source of borrowing may be on real estate. The new banking bill, so bitterly fought by Senator Glass, has a provision permitting national banks to lend up to 75 per cent of the value of property on 20 year terms amortized. This has been included at the request of the smaller banks. It may make money easier for house and store rehabilitation. I think the provision a very mischievous one. But that is not the point here. Its effect may be to start a little flow of credit.

A more powerful source for credit may be seen in the construction industry, but not, I think, in the immediate future. It is not likely to develop in any effective way until next summer and even later. I believe a housing shortage is in course of development. It has not become acute yet. But it will presently be felt.

WORN-OUT HOUSES NEED REPLACEMENT

During these last five depression years houses have been wearing out. We knock down thousands of houses every year for one reason or another. Scores of thousands have been burned down. Thousands more have been abandoned because they were finally at the end of the trail. Meantime we have not been replacing them. In many communities we have been destroying more houses than we have been building.

All this while people have been getting into New Republics have been formed by marriage—faster than old ones have been broken up. In the course of years we shall have to build 10,000,000 houses just to take care of population increase by normal spreading out and thus enabling people to keep up with the Jones and with the scientists who keep inventing new things for houses. This housing market will develop. If left to itself it may take some years. It will develop rapidly if some impetus can be given to business from some other quarter.

At the same time it may be that a new industry is in sight. That is the fabricated house industry. This is developing with a rapidity little observed by the general public. It may burst on us at any moment. However, these things, as already pointed out, will not make much difference in business in the next six months.

GOVERNMENT OUTLAY TO BE INCREASED

What will make a difference will be government spending. Spending in the first half of 1935 was much less than in the first half of 1934. This situation will probably change in the coming six months and, doubtless, throughout next year.

This important fact must be kept in mind. The president recently obtained by congressional appropriation $4,000,000,000 for a great relief and public works campaign. Up to now practically none of this money has been spent. In fact, the president has left from last year's appropriations and still unspent at least a billion dollars—maybe more. He has, therefore, very nearly six billion dollars which he can spend before the end of June, 1936, if he sees fit. This is twice as much almost as he has spent on emergency purposes in either of his two years thus far. It will be seen that he is powerfully armed to give to business via the government spending route whatever shot is necessary to keep it moving.

The government has been making some drastic change over from a relief program to a works program. This has delayed an extensive outlay. Under the new plan. But we may assume that it will be in full working order by fall. If it is, it will be sure to fatten business somewhat.

HOUSE MAY REBEL AGAINST BORROWING

The question of inflation is to be reckoned with. I do not believe we will have greenback inflation—or printing press money. But we have, it can be argued, been inflating by means of borrowing. Indeed, that has already been done. It can be argued that in checking government borrowing now and resorting to a program of taxation, Senators, in addition to meet government outlays, whatever they are, has been growing in both houses of Congress. I will venture a little prediction. If the president himself does not act with decision, one of these days there will be a real blow-off in the House—a real revolt in that apparently subservient body of yes-men—and it will be on the question of government borrowing. At this comes the inflationary movement will be checked. But if it does not come, nothing else can stop inflation.

But it will not be mad, wild inflation like the German, or, for that matter, like the French. In this article. But it will be sufficient to increase prices materially beyond what they are now. Every man who has funds under his care or to invest must seriously ask himself what he can do. What to do in the event this inflation proceeds further.

ELECTIONS SERVE AS BUSINESS SPUR

Beyond all, of course, affecting the current scene, will be the elections. The presidential election will not be held until November, 1936—16 months away. But the conventions will be in full blast a year from now. And long before that, primary elections for the selection of delegates will be under way. And before that campaigns for such primary elections and the moves of the candidates will be occupying our front pages.

Then you will hear the usual croaker who will begin to lament "this quadrennial disturbance to business just as things promise to be better." One of the talent of old fictions is that elections always hurt business. History refutes the notion. Business may actually improved during campaign years oftener than it has declined. Even in 1934 from September right through the congressional elections business had the soundest increase it has had since the New Deal. And strangely enough, in the bitter contest of 1932 when things were so bad, all through August, September, October and November business activity was on the rise.

THE END.

Brief Summary Of Situation

Here is a brief summary of John T. Flynn's views of the business situation in mid-year 1935, as this famous journalist-economist has given them in three daily articles (concluding today) written expressly for The Edmonton Bulletin:

1—Business declining during last six months as against a rise in the same six months last year.

2—But the total product was larger than in the first half of 1934.

3—Business seems to have enough energy to move up and down around a point of 76 per cent of normal and cannot seem to move for any length of time above that.

4—To make this additional lift it seems to need some new energy.

5—The lift it now enjoys comes from government spending, and—

6—The new lift must come from a revival of the capital goods industry—the chief hope of which is housing and factory replacement.

7—Business in the next six months should be better than in the last six months because government spending will be resumed on a larger scale, and—

8—As a result of such spending of borrowed funds we are in the incipient stages of a mild inflation which can be checked only by a shift from borrowing to taxation, the sentiment for which is growing.

Thus stand the books.

CANUCK HEADS RELIEF WORKERS DURING QUAKE

standing than Quetta after the great blast.

But six miles out the main military road is the staff college, where young officers are taught to be nonchalant and to carry on those traditions for which the British army in India has been famous through the decades.

The man, in charge of that college is Colonel Ernest Dawson of Kingston. Like other Canadians on this frontier of sudden death—Miles Keller of Napanee, Francis Maynard of Ottawa and Jud Kennedy of Toronto—he is an R.M.C. graduate.

Dawson was one of the heroes of the Quetta rescue work, yet it was his neighbors who felt the jar rolled over and went back to sleep. In the morning one of them blandly turned to his wife and said, "I must have you seen what's out here?"

They looked out into their garden. The city that had spread before them when they went to bed was gone—wiped completely and entirely off the map. They say now it will never be built again. The staff college itself was, however, hardly damaged.

By this time, however, Dawson was busy at headquarters. The city had no lights, no shops, no water or food. It had no government. It had no law. It did have more dead people than anyone ever knew. Yet even at this hour, realizations of the havoc wrought was so slow in coming that final casualties, dead and injured, were numbered at one thousand. You all know now that 30,000 or even more were snuffed out.

MILITARY DICTATORSHIP

Dawson, among a few other senior officers, took hold and so smoothly and smoothly did the military organization slide into its job of civil dictatorship that troops were digging out those who still lived under the debris within two hours from the first bump and the first of three raids by tribesmen on the helpless city had been beaten off. The Gurkhas did the beating off, and the Gurkhas saved 700 lives from the looters.

But this is about Canadians. Who else was in this? Well, there was R. O. Errors and Omniaalm Austin of Oakwood Ave., Toronto. Austin is zone manager for Ford of Canada in the Quetta district of Waziristan, Baluchistan, Afghanistan and Persia. His wife, now on her way to visit friends in Hamilton, is one of the few white women who ever made the groove a car through the Khyber Pass straight on the Afghan capital and to Persia.

Now Austin, having seen his wife off to Canada by way of China, was Quetta-bound with a big shipment of cars for the dealers and for the army. He tried to get up by the mail 'plane, but it was loaded. If he had caught the plane, he would have perished in the ruins. If he had not waited to say good-bye to his wife, he would have perished in the ruins. If he had suffered the awful desert heat by coming in the train, he would have perished in the ruins.

MOTOR PLANT DEMOLISHED

But Austin decided to come on the ship with his cars. What's more, his divisional manager for Baluchistan, A. T. Jeffery of New Westminster, B.C., came to Karachi to meet him. The result was that both still live. The Ford agency in Baluchistan's one-line beautiful capital was wiped from the earth. There were no survivors among its staff.

It's perhaps typical of E. O. Austin—who looked on the whole debacle as a gag—that he now ordered what he was going to do with a lot of new cars. He didn't wonder long. He sold them all in three days.

This Austin chap takes life with a grin. Everything is just a bowl of cherries, and life seems to work out pretty good for him. For instance, right now Karachi is overrun with refugees. Sick, dying and injured people are clamoring to get out. Austin and I were booked out by steamer, but the ship was commandeered as a hospital boat and I'm told I can't leave town for three weeks.

"I'll get out all right," Austin laughed a me. "You watch."

He casually ambled down to the steamship company that's come back with a first-class ticket on the first outbound ship.

"There y'are, kid . . . it's all in the way you say bath. See, you're a Canadian, and you don't know how to say bath. If you just put plenty of 'aw' in the 'bawth,' the country is your—"

CRIMINAL TORONTONIAN

"Seriously," I pleaded. "How did you work it? I want to get out of here. I got a date with 20 elephants in Mysore." Ho, ho, ho.

"Well," Austin grinned again, "I ship a lot of cars in here, don't I? It's freight by ship then, doesn't it? They don't have earthquakes every week. Now, if you just shipped a couple of million newspapers in here every week, they'd have a run of rooms for you. It's easy."

In his last jaunt through the Wazir tribal lands—from where I had just returned as Quetta fell—Austin smashed into one of those amazing heroics of "Give me honor or give me death," practised by the tribesmen.

His car and the kit of himself and another chap—a sergeant—by a bunch of heavily armed joyriders who thought it would be nice to take a little trip some place. That happens often. It happened to me. In Austin's car the snipers found a gramaphone, and not only a gramaphone, but records in their own guttural tongue. This fascinated the men. They had never heard such a thing before. They put down their rifles and sat about

NO OPPOSITION HUNGER MARCH

TORONTO, July 10—The Ontario government has decided to render no assistance and offer no opposition to the proposed "hunger march" of unemployed unemployed to Ottawa, Premier Mitchell F. Hepburn announced Tuesday night following a cabinet meeting.

"We are of the opinion we should neither try to prevent nor aid or abet the marchers," the premier said after the cabinet discussed the march following a visit of unemployed leaders.

The Premier said he could see no good purpose to be served by the march.

The last widow of the Revolutionary War died in 1910. There are still seven widows of the War of 1812 receiving pensions from the American government.

the little portable machine with starry eyes. They listened as though to the bloody romances unravelled by professional story-tellers in the bazaars.

Then, to show their gratitude and appreciation, the mountaineers decided to dance. Austin got his car and gear. They probably wouldn't even shoot him.

That night he spent with the political agent, that lonely outposter who, by virtue of his magical fact, manages to keep these savages under some sort of control.

There have been some sort of fracas that afternoon between two sons of rival families, and now the political agent had decided to make him offering them a peace palaver.

"HONORABLE" MURDERER

Suddenly, as he talked, one man slipped into the house, took the blade and slit his neighbor open from ribe to groin. Over the agent's beautiful Persian carpet spilled blood and entrails.

"Look here, you young fool," the agent said to the killer, who now wiped his knife on his shirt. "This is not funny at all. Not in the least it isn't funny. This office you'll please understand, is British territory. This is murder. For this you hang. Understand, you hang! You hang tomorrow."

The killer paled a bit. Not that death mattered. But he knew he was sorry. "Hang!" he repeated. "Hazoor, you cannot do that. My honor. My family. Only sheepstealers are hanged. Give me some other way. My honor, sahib. My honor."

"Right!" the political agent agreed. "You can go. You go home. Oh you way home. Just get out of the road."

This was quite agreeable to the knife killer. He kicked his fallen foe over to give him a farewell prod, buckled his cartridge belt and stepped out into the slithering gloom whistling. Down the road he marched, whistling cheerily. Austin and the political agent stood watching him. He swung off the road . . . the British road over which no man will shoot even his enemy. Six shots rang out. The murder was avenged while in victim still lay in the British bungalow.

Canadian Treasure Seekers Reach Port After Ocean Battle

Crew of Small Ketch Casarco Near Exhaustion After Drifting Helplessly Nine Days in Open Sea.

BATABANO, Cuba, July 10—His search for buried treasure frustrated by engine trouble, M. J. Rice of Toronto and his family rested here today after nine exhausting days adrift in the Caribbean sea.

His crippled 50-foot ketch, Casarco, was towed here yesterday by the Cuban gunboat Santa Clara. With Rice were his wife, their two sons and Elbert James of Daytona Beach, Fla., treasure.

Rice did not announce what his future plans were. The Casarco put out from Havana, June 28, en route to a secret destination in the Pacific ocean where Rice expected to dig up buried treasure.

James, describing the experiences of the party for the Associated Press, said the motor quit soon after leaving Havana. Water got into the crankcase and the valves finally jammed. The sails were no fault they strained the keel when hoisted and the Casarco began to leak.

Finally they sent out distress calls and the Santa Clara came to their aid July 8. The gunboat towed them first to the Isle of Pines, then to Batabano.

Claron Resumes Emergency Trip By Fast Train

WINNIPEG, July 10.—An emergency flight from Edmonton to Chicago, broken here when the pilot narrowly missed connections with a south-bound plane, was resumed Tuesday by train, speeding to the bedside of his sick wife, Mr. Claron decided to travel the remaining 1,000 miles by rail rather than risk further delay.

Piloted by Jack Keenen, Claron arrived in the city Monday afternoon after an 800-mile flight from the Alberta capital only to miss the south-bound air-mail 'plane by 30 minutes. While here he received reassuring word with regard to his wife's condition, which influenced his decision to travel the remaining 1,000 miles by train.

Heavy seas and terrific winds damaged the ketch, said James. Its engine room hatch was smashed, and a guard rail broken.

Mrs. Rice was seasick and the others of the party exhausted by their experiences.

Rice's search for the treasure was based on discovery of a map in the case of a watch which was given him in Toronto. It discloses the location of buried treasure along the coast of a country bordering the Pacific ocean, with longitude and latitude and gave the value of the hoard.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 10

IN THE SAME BOAT

While the Mounted Police at Regina were arresting men because they belonged to an organization said to be affiliated with the Communist party and getting ready to prosecute them "as such," Hon. J. Russell Love was appearing on the platform with Mr. Jan Lakeman, Communist candidate in Edmonton, in an attempt to persuade Communist voters they could further their aims and ideals by voting for U.F.A. candidates.

Forbid any suggestion that the Provincial Treasurer should be put in durance vile for consorting with that "unlawful party," or that Mr. Lakeman should be locked up for avowing his principles. But there does seem to be a lack of consistency in leaving these gentlemen at liberty while men at Regina are arrested on suspicion of sharing the Communistic purposes Mr. Lakeman avows and Mr. Love condones.

If these gentlemen are entitled to run for the legislature on the Communist platform—and Mr. Love can't get Communist support on any other platform—the marchers who were arrested merely on allegation that they have these purposes in mind, should surely be set at liberty—with apologies for wrongful arrest.

Ottawa cannot with any show of fairness make "fish" of Mr. Evans and Mr. Cosgrave and "fowl" of Mr. Lakeman and Mr. Love.

AFTER THE "MARCH"

Recent events do not seem to have convinced young Canadians that twenty cents a day plus board is a satisfactory rate of remuneration. They persist in thinking their time is worth more than that, which is entirely to their credit.

While the marchers who were turned back at Regina are drifting again into the British Columbia relief camps, other marchers are getting decidedly, from Winnipeg, Montreal, Toronto and other points, all headed for Ottawa and all with the objective of getting jobs at real wage rates.

A thousand men engaged at the twenty cent rate in building an arsenal at Valcartier are on strike for more money, and a hundred men employed at the same rate in building a rifle range at Rockcliffe, just outside Ottawa, went out Monday on the same demand.

Up to Monday evening none of the marchers who had been returned to Calgary had gone out to camps in this province, and the returned marchers at Edmonton were being threatened with being cut off relief if they did not go back to the camps forthwith.

Whatever is to be said for the methods employed in dealing with the marchers, and with similar protests on the part of camp men elsewhere, it cannot be said that these have met with any success. These methods have not convinced the men in the camps that they are not worth any more than they are getting, nor that the country cannot find use for their energy at reasonable wage rates, nor that Sir George Perley was right when he said the country could not find the money to pay real wages for real work.

Nor has anybody else been convinced on any of these points. Twenty cents a day plus board is no solution for unemployment. That fact is proclaimed in the news columns of any newspaper every day. Men only accept this miserable pittance, and thousands of them are accepting it, under pressure of imminent hunger. That is how far Canada has got in five years on the undertaking to "end unemployment."

A REDISTRIBUTION OF LOSSES

Speculation is naturally general as to where Mr. Stevens' new party will find its recruits, and what effect it will have on the fortunes of the existing parties. To the public that is not the important point. What name is borne by the party securing the largest contingent in the House of Commons is not a matter of vital consequence. What does matter is the kind of policy that party enforces in the management and direction of the national affairs. Party names do not make or prevent general prosperity; party policies do.

On the question of national policy in trade and allied matters there is no room for doubt where Mr. Stevens' group will stand. Whatever name it may carry, and whatever regulatory objectives it may aim at, it will be essentially a Conservative party—as that party is identified by the policies of the last five years. It will have to be that kind of a party if Mr. Stevens is to lead it. For the reason that he yields place to none in advocating these basic principles.

Mr. Stevens believes as ardently as Mr. Bennett in high tariff, dump duties, embargoes, quotas, and all the other varieties of hobbles and hindrances by which international trade was blocked and hampered during his term of office as Minister of trade and commerce. He has been preaching these doctrines for thirty years. He gained his first seat in parliament by fighting reciprocity with the United States in 1911.

There is no discounting either the consistency or the whole-heartedness of Mr. Stevens' belief in economic nationalism. The new party will have to accept that, or it cannot have him as its leader.

Where Mr. Stevens differs with Mr. Bennett is only in proposing to distribute and equalize among the people of Canada the hardships which inevitably result from that kind of a trade policy. Unlike Mr. Bennett, he thinks general poverty can be shared up and passed around in some way that will make it something else than poverty.

That can't be done, but Mr. Stevens thinks it can be. It is on a plan to redistribute the losses resulting from the trade-prevention policy he helped to establish that he will have to base his "new" party—or his new appeal to the Conservative voters who will no longer follow Mr. Bennett.

The contract for the erection of the new public school building, (on College avenue) was let on Friday to K. A. McLeod for $6,275. This is considerbaly more than the building was expected to cost, but as it will be a first class building it is perhaps best not to stint the cost so as to detract either from its appearance, convenience or durability.

Seldom if ever in the history of the Edmonton district have crops of all kinds looked as well at this season as they do now. The season opened early and grain got away to an early and even start. It is strange that while there has been a moderate amount of rain for the past month the swamps and ponds are drying up. Hay is likely to be a poor crop.

TRIFLES

The massive gates of Circumstance
Are turned upon the smallest hinge,
And thus some seeming pettiest chance
Oft gives our life its after-tinge.

The common things scarce worth recall,
Whereof no visible trace survives,
These are the mainsprings, after all.

Horoscope

By MARY BLAKE

On July 11 should someone try to infringe on your rights, a bold stand probably will make them respect your claims. Strong characters are likely to try to impose on those they think they can dominate. This ought to be a good day for making financial arrangements. Married and engaged couples, and those who contemplate entering matrimony, will have to be careful that unfounded jealousy does not poison their minds.

If a woman and July 11 is your birthday, your strong personality will be a great asset, especially in securing the co-operation of your friends, if their help is needed. You should take an active part in social affairs. Sympathetic as well as affectionate, you should be a very happy wife and mother.

The child born on July 11 from the time it enters until it leaves school, may require loving encouragement.

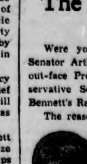

If a man and July 11 is your natal day, you should be very popular both at home, and abroad. Your keen sense of humor probably will make you much sought after for social affairs.

The Passing Show

By J. S. COWPER

Were you at a loss to understand why Senator Arthur Meighen decided last week to out-face Premier Bennett and induce a Conservative Senate to refuse to pass Premier Bennett's Radio Act?

The reason advanced by Hon. Mr. Meighen was the powers of the Senate are co-ordinate and autonomous with those of the Commons, and that the Senate has a right to act as it chooses. But that isn't the way Senates act toward premiers who have given them their majorities.

J. S. Cowper

We must look a little further than the Radio Act for the real reason.

In the same week that Senator Meighen led his Conservative forces in this public rebuke of Premier Bennett, an interview arrived from London. Premier Bennett had given it to a member of the staff of "The People"—a newspaper that claims a certified sale of over three million copies. If you want to read it in all its original and pristine splendor, you'll find it in the issue dated Sunday, June 16, 1935.

Captioned "Guiding Star of Mother-Love," the interview reveals our gifted Premier as he sees himself—as an example for others. He tells of his early ambitions, of how "politics was in my blood," of how he left his native province with modest pockets, his main assets Ambition and Hope, and of his career of unexampled success, during which "I have never broken my schoolboy promise never to smoke or drink, or miss a Sunday at church."

Digest the following paragraph as if you were ex-Premier Meighen reading it:

"My pockets were empty. But I had a fair grasp of the situation facing my country, and a year later I was elected to the Legislature of the North-West Territories. Since then my country's interests have been mine. Canada grew and I grew with it. I have been proud to serve it in every way I could; as Privy Councillor; M.P. for Calgary; King's Counsel; President of the Canadian Bar Association; Minister of Finance; Minister of Justice. In 1926, I gave up Justice and, as Prime Minister, and Secretary of State for External Affairs, I brought the Conservatives back to office after an absence of ten years—with the exception of Meighen's 'Shadow Government' in 1926, which was overthrown after three months."

How do you think the possessor of the acutest intellect that ever graced a Premier of Canada felt when he read that sentence:

"I brought the Conservatives back to office after an absence of ten years—with the exception of Meighen's 'Shadow Government' in 1926 which was overthrown after three months."

It all depends on whether you think that Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen is as human as I think he is.

The rest of the interview goes to show what a loss the evangelical pulpit suffered when the hero of the interview decided to practice law and follow politics. The statesman, who passed the Order-in-Council making it a crime for any workless man to go to Ottawa with his plaint, declaring it an offence for any citizen to give a reliefer a bite to eat, a cup of coffee to drink, a bed to sleep on or a kind word to cheer him on his way, unburdens himself as follows to "The People":

"As we meet the inevitable reverses along the road of life—sorrow, sadness, disappointments, misfortunes—there exists only one remedy against the mental state these things bring about, and that is to acquire a larger outlook. We are thus enabled to see and know that material things, important as they are, are not the most important things of life.

"Life has taught me that we must aim at the largest and wisest view of life. Some secure it through Christian faith. In other lands and in other ages, men sought it in different ways. Some have found it in philosophy and in art; some find it in the teachings of the God of Israel.

"And here I recall still another lesson life has taught me. That is tolerance—respect for the point of view of other people; other nations; other religions.

"Have faith and sincerity of purpose. in following whatever course you have planned.

"When we deal with problems of material life, as distinguished from spiritual ones, young men and women have found that, in the broad and general way, those problems yield to knowledge and to courage.

"But with all the knowledge in the world if you may not achieve that material success which you believe to be your due. So from my own observations I submit that if to knowledge you add courage, firmness and persistence, you may indeed achieve wonders.

Advising his readers against cynicism, Premier Bennett has some words about the wealthy. He says:

"In this age in which men point to those who have accumulated wealth—we can do well to consider the teachings of the Man from Galilee. What of him who gave away all his possessions? We are not all constituted alike. We are not all of the same minds, although we have all the same opportunities.

"This time of hardship and depression has brought home to everyone one lesson: that Faith without Works is dead. By kindness to others, by generosity to those in distress, we can demonstrate the faith in our minds. The lessons we have learned impose on us greater obligations. The Lord requires that we do justice; love; be merciful, and walk humbly before Him. If we follow those things we have nothing to fear.

"I never weary of believing that we may look forward to the future. I know the perplexing problems with which youth is faced. They are many. The difficulties, too, are great. The only way by which we can overcome difficulties is by leaning upon the things of the spirit.

"In this doubt and distrust, upon what are we thrown back? What is left us but the Faith of our childhood? That is a faith which means everything to us. But it cannot be explained scientifically or philosophically. All the learning in the world, all the science in the world, cannot explain that which rests upon Faith.

"Life has left me with the knowledge that happiness is work, and work happiness. There is nothing greater than the joy of work. Nothing pays finer dividends than continuity of effort, which makes one's own happiness spring from within.

"That secret spring of contentment, faith in God and the inspiration of faith in my fellow-men, has renewed my strength and aided my vigour to carry on the manifold tasks which have been my life's portion."

To the question that will arise in the minds of readers, I can only say I think (a) that Mr. Bennett's temperament ran away with him, or that (b) someone had kidded him that King George reads "The People." On the page is a corking good story of the fight between Tommy Burns and Jack Johnson.

Backache Common

By DOCTOR FRANK McCOY

Backaches are a common symptom because they may be due to so many causes. For example, a few of the disorders which may produce backache are as follows: lumbago (rheumatism of the lumbar back); sciatica; bladder trouble; kidney stones; disorders of women; foot defects; arthritis of the spine; prolapsus or fallen organs; any type of strain or sprain which injures the back muscles or ligaments; sacro-iliac displacements; or a condition referred to by the patient as "weak back." In this last complaint, any great amount of stooping, standing or heavy lifting is followed by a dull, dragging ache through the lower back. Poor posture, where the patient stands or sits incorrectly, and also colitis are other potent causes of backache. Occasionally, backache is due to the fact that one of the small bones of the spine has slipped out of its proper place.

Dr. F. McCoy

One of the reasons that backache is so distressing is that any movement of the body is likely to send a twinge of pain through the affected area. On this account, a patient with a sore back will usually keep as quiet as possible. The painful sensation seen in backache varies in different patients and one will describe a sharp, shooting or boring pain while another will describe a dull, dragging ache.

One kind of backache which is increasing at the present time is sacro-iliac strain. This type of lower back pain is caused by a slipping out of place of some of the bones of the sacro-iliac region. Sacro-iliac displacement frequently begins with a fall, or a sudden twisting or wrenching of the body. There is no doubt that a simple slipping out of place of some of the bones in the sacro-iliac region may become a severe condition in those with a tendency to rheumatism or arthritis. The main symptom is pain which is often severe and which seems to arise in the lower part of the back where the joint between the spine and the hip bone is located. The pain may last for several days and is best relieved by heat and rest.

The treatment I advise is a manipulative treatment as given by a doctor who understands how to put the bones back into proper relationship. Incidentally, the first successful treatment for relieving a dislocation of this type was discovered by osteopaths. In the average case, only one treatment is needed, but if the patient has been suffering for any length of time, several treatments may be required.

In order to give the affected parts rest, it is sometimes advisable to have the doctor strap up the affected area with adhesive tape. The use of a firm mattress is suggested and you may use the deep-therapy lamp, the electric pad, the diathermy, or the hot water bottle, or any similar treatment which will afford temporary relief.

I also advise the short fasting regimen in the treatment of any kind of backache which will assist in removing any rheumatic poisons which may have settled around the injured area. The fasting regimen is the best method I have found to assist in relieving any inflammation which may be present and recovery is much more rapid in every case where the fast is used.

Exercise should be avoided as long as any acute inflammation is present. However, a permanent cure often depends upon employing sufficient exercise to strengthen the supporting muscles of the spine so that the back is maintained in a proper position.

Several different articles are now available on the various kinds of back disorders, and I suggest that you write for any article in which you are interested. Enclose one large, self-addressed envelope and ten cents. I will be glad to send you any helpful information I can.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

QUESTION: Mrs. Samantha D. asks: "Will you please tell me what causes blisters to come on my hands, which itch intensely? Then a scab forms. I have been told my trouble is Tetter."

ANSWER: Tetter is the popular name for a large variety of skin troubles. Judging from the symptoms given in your letter, you have developed eczema. The use of a short fast, followed by a correctly balanced diet, and local treatment given over the affected areas with the ultra violet ray light should bring about permanent relief.

Dr. Frank McCoy's great book, "The Fast Way to Health," gives you the theories of health in plain, easily understandable language.

A limited supply is on hand at The Bulletin. A copy will be mailed postpaid on receipt of $1.60. Just address The Bulletin.

If it is desired to communicate direct with Dr McCoy, readers are requested to address communication direct to Dr. Frank McCoy, 580 South Ardmore Ave., Los Angeles, California, and replies will be mailed direct from that address.

Side Glances — By George Clark

On This Date

A Day in Canadian History —o— By FRED WILLIAMS

On this date in 1684, Joseph Antoine Lefebvre de la Barre, governor of Canada, left Quebec with 200 men to attack the Iroquois in the upper country.

After a stay at Montreal he embarked his little army at La-chine, crossed Lake St. Louis and began the ascent of the upper St. Lawrence. The obstacles were great; the rapids had to be overcome, his soldiers were unused to American campaigning, and, to add to their misery, they ran into a plague of mosquitoes, which nearly drove the French-men insane. Travelling in the heat of the day was fearsome, but if it was better than the plague of the insects at night, and so it was that when the canoes, having threaded the mazes of the Thousand Islands, came to Cataraqui and rested under the palisades of Fort Frontenac, the soldiers thought they had reached a paradise.

But the expedition was doomed to disaster. Within a few days of arrival the company was stricken with malaria. Many died, and others were so enfeebled that it was impossible for them to fight. Nothing was left but for LaBarre to make peace terms with the Indians, which were so ignominious that they reflected upon the honor of France; and then the expedition retraced its way to Quebec.

When the news reached France, LaBarre was at once recalled and died two years later; his whole administration coming under the censure of the minister of state and it being proved that he was both incompetent and dishonest. His three years in Canada are a dark page in the history of New France.

The Mail Bag

A GOOD CITIZEN

Editor, Bulletin: I had the privilege of hearing a conversation in the Civic Block, while at the counter paying my taxes, between a poor little Scotch woman and one of the officials there. Her husband, a small pensioner, has been out of work for nearly four years, and got a job at Jasper on the highway. He had sent on a couple of checks and she says, "It was a toss-up whether I pay taxes or buy clothes, but I guess my taxes come first."

I noticed she put every cent she had towards her four-years' taxes and that is one of the things that makes me so sorely needed shoes and clothing.

I have since found out she is a hard-working honest woman, and the Bulletin some time ago gave her clothing. She is willing to scrub floors, and I presume she makes a few cents reading tea cups, too. This is the lady I found out they put down for a petty theft some time ago. Well, I am willing to shake her by the hand any time.

Put whatever you think best in your paper and let the country know of one citizen we should all be proud to hand out.

TAX-PAYER.

AN EXPLANATION

Editor, Bulletin: The League Against War and Fascism held a big day recently and since then there have been criticisms as to the purpose and claims of this organization. It has been suggested that it is a cloaked communistic institution with the ulterior motives. Well, as one of the taggers on that occasion permit me to make a few observations.

The League is an aggregation of political and religious individuals and organizations who have agreed to forget their differences politically and theologically so as to concentrate on the one factor that all rational beings are compelled to in the interests of civilization and humanity, namely that war and its complement, fascism, are a curse and the expression of every base trait in human nature.

The League represents the only real patriotism. If by that we mean the upholding of the ideals of a decent, just social order and the universal repugnance to fratricide.

Today the world is living in the shadows. Hunger, poverty and the threat of war are everywhere. The purpose of the League is to arouse world opinion to the point where such Junkers as Hitler and Mussolini and others of their ilk can be effectively defied.

MAKING EMPLOYMENT

Editor, Bulletin: Truly conservative was the announcement of the secretary of the Conservative Association in his broadcast re the five-day week plan, and the criticism in his criticism of the Liberal leader for not having a more specific policy regarding Labor.

The Economic Recovery Association of this province not only have the five-day week plan in view, but a six-hour working day with no reduction in pay, with which plan we hope to put more than 50 per cent more of the unemployed to work.

Mr. Heaps, member for North Winnipeg, introduced this plan into the House of Commons in 1932, and it was backed by similar bill by Liberal members, but it received a cold reception by the party that now with an introduce it for campaign purposes.

In Great Britain at the present time a series of meetings is being held between the Trades Union Congress and the employers' representatives, together with the Minister of Labor, Mr. Oliver Stanley, to discuss this very question, or what may be described as the "Mobility of Labor."

This question has arisen as the result of the growth of mechanical methods of production, by which semi-skilled workers, and in some cases unskilled workers, can carry out operations formerly done by skilled workmen.

If the negotiations now under way succeed, the six-hour day, five-day week will be introduced into British industry. An all important point about the negotiations is that they are to proceed with the object of reducing the working day and week without reducing the individual wage. To date at the meetings of representatives of both workers and employers, agreement was reached on principle, and success is assured.

It is through the action of the Liberal party we hope to introduce these reforms as soon as possible in Canada. Again, for it is known the Liberal party are in favor of considering this question further when brought up in concrete form.

Sunshine Shafts

New Yorker (incredulously): And you mean to say that in California you have three hundred and sixty-five days of sunshine a year?

The man from Los Angeles: Exactly so, sir, and that's a mighty conservative estimate.—Life.

He who laughs last is usually the dumbest.

Testifying that her husband forced her to get out of bed every morning at one o'clock to pray with him, Mrs. Loretta Buckwater won a divorce recently. She used to pray that he'd let her go back to bed, she said.

Mother—"I object to these one-piece bathing suits."

Daughter—"Oh, mother, I think I ought to wear something."

George—Did you ever visit the art museum?

Vera—No. It never happened to be raining when I passed it.

SUPPORTERS OF STEVENS CRITICIZED

Woodsworth Appeals To Common People to Elect Own Candidates

WINDSOR, Ont., July 10.—Conservatives, Liberals and "left-wing" Conservatives as led by Hon. H. H. Stevens were criticized Tuesday night by J. S. Woodsworth, M.P., Winnipeg North Centre, and Dominion leader of the Co-Operative Commonwealth Federation, at a meeting here tonight.

He appealed for an effort by the "common people" to elect their own candidates in the federal election.

REST-UP OF CAMPS

Touching on the Regina riots, the speaker digressed to show the setup of the unemployment relief camps under the jurisdiction of the department of national defence.

"This department, he declared, was not the type to handle these camps. When first established, he continued, they were to be only temporary, but now they have been in operation three years.

Prime Minister R. B. Bennett, when the subject of the relief workers congregating in Vancouver was brough up in the house of commons, had declared it was not the right of the federal government to interfere. Yet they had interfered in Regina, exclaimed Mr. Woodsworth.

FOSTER COMMUNISM

It was only after there had been rioting and shooting with deaths ensuing, that the government would consider the matter in parliament, and he asserted, this action of the government was tending to foster Communism.

Touching upon the action of Mr. Stevens in forming a new party, Mr. Woodsworth said in his opinion the policies of the former cabinet minister, if put into effect, would not fundamentally change conditions as they at present exist.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, beautiful, 20, becomes acquainted with MICHAEL HEATHEROE, teacher of riding, and acknowledges an unwilling attraction toward him. She is worried over the progress of an affair between Zoe PARKER, her best friend, and GIBBS LARKIN, of whom Zoe's parents disapprove.

Katharine and DR. JOHN KAYE, friend of the Strykhurst family, take Zoe to a night club where she sees Gibbs with a notorious woman. Zoe threatens to kill herself.

That same night Michael is enveigled into taking SALLY MOON, local coquette, to the same place. Sally, arriving home late, informs her father that she and Michael are engaged.

Zoe drinks poison. Doctor Kaye sets to work to save her life.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XIX

DR. KAYE spoke slowly, as one who is deadly weary. "We pulled through," he said. "She's going to get well."

Katharine crumpled against the window frame. Her creamy silk evening frock was wrinkled. Her eyes had great hollows under them. "Oh, John, thank God! You did it —we owe it all to you."

He shrugged his shoulders. "It was the least I could do."

"You mean because you took us to the club and she saw Gibbs there? Why, that was fate—"

"Not exactly," said John Gaye, rather dryly. "You are I happened to know he was one of the habitues . . . I hear gossip around town."

"It's taught me something," Katharine said, on a long, shuddering breath of exhaustion. "It's taught me never to interfere with human destiny. That, after all, is God's business . . ."

"I only we could all learn that lesson so early," said the man wryly. "Come along now. Time for you to get some sleep. Zoe is resting quietly."

"Does her mother know?"

"I sent the nurse to tell her five minutes ago."

"Then I must have been asleep," marveled Katharine. "And I thought I'd never sleep again till I was sure. What weak creatures we humans are, John! You must have thought so when you came out of that room a moment ago and saw me dozing."

"I thought . . ." he paused and smiled into a peculiarly winning smile of his. "Never mind what I thought."

Katharine went home again, tiptoeing through the quiet house, through the dew-soaked garden. The morning air seemed new-minted for her especial pleasure. It was a fresh gift. Never before had she realized how divinely sweet a morning could be.

Zoe's convalescence was slow. No one but John Kaye and Katharine knew what really had happened that terrible night. Some columnist from the city printed an item to the effect that "Gibbs Larkin took it on the chin from a certain prominent miner at the Blue Sky Club." Katharine, reading it, trembled. But there were no further repercussions from the incident. Gibbs evidently had not been seriously hurt and, wherever he was, he had the sense to keep out of Zoe's path now.

Later Katharine read his name in the sailing lists. Bound for Plymouth and Havre. She wondered if Cissy Malotte, the blues singer, were on board the ship.

The day came when Zoe was allowed to walk in the garden. She seemed thinner, more thoughtful than before. Katharine knew with death had sobered her, changed her from the laughing, rather frivolous girl she had been into a quieter woman. Katharine was conscious of being drawn to her as to a younger sister.

For the moment thoughts of Michael Heatheroe were pushed into the background of Katharine's mind. She saw him almost daily. Sometimes he rode at her side; sometimes not. But their relationship was now on a firmer basis. Katharine no longer felt it necessary to be stiff and offhand with him. Every day she saw about him some quality that she liked and admired more.

"Who says men and women cannot be friends?" she demanded of Dr. Kaye one rainy Sunday. Berline and her father were at the country club for tea. Katharine was exquisite in soft country tweeds, her hair curled about her face in a nimbus of ringlets.

"I don't know. Who does?" John Kaye returned lazily. Ellen had kindled a fire in the library grate, for the afternoon was cool as well as damp—a curious day for August —and Katharine sat on a low hassock, poking idly at the embers with one of the fire tools.

"Oh, I don't know. Everybody!" Katharine offered vaguely, smiling to herself. The man watched her with interest, balancing a teacup in one hand, the other occupied with a cigarette.

"Generalizations are always stupid," the doctor said idly.

"I love this," Katharine went on, with animation, including the fire and the tea tray in the wave of her hand. "It's pleasant to be shut in like this, with rain pounding against the windows and beating at the door." She smiled a secret smile, thinking of the day she and Michael Heatheroe had been sheltered in the wayside cabin. Michael had been angry at her that day. Why? Some day, perhaps, she would know. He had never spoken to her in that way since.

"Pleasant, indeed. You never can get this feeling in a city apartment," mused Dr. Kaye. "You have to have the noise of tree branche bending in the wind and the sweep of water pounding on rocks and maybe the lighthouse bell tolling occasionally to give you a taste of real drama, in the storm, Katharine," he digressed suddenly, putting his cup down, "you've been happier of late, haven't you? Or do I imagine it? Somehow you and Bertine seem to be hitting it off better than you did."

"Oh, yes. Bertine is all right," Katharine said politely. It wouldn't do to tell John that the reason she was able to bear her stepmother's irritating ways, her trick of whining and "fussing" at everything was because she had found a new outlet for her energies and affections. The Merser house was open to her now whenever Bertine made home unbearable. Violet Merser was her confidante . . . and Katharine loved the children, too, as she hadn't dared to love anyone for years. But if Bertine knew how often she sought out the little white house in the hills behind Innicock, she would be sure to interfere.

How grand it would be, Katharine thought, if Michael Heatheroe were to come walking in that door this very instant. She would say, "Tea, Michael?"

But she could never ask Michael Heatheroe to her home. Her stepmother would never allow it. Bertine, for all he, smiles and apparent amiability, ruled the Strykhurst menage with a rod of iron. Her portly husband did exactly as she wished; in fact, often thought, said Katharine rather contemptuously to herself, exactly what his wife told him to think.

Michael Heatheroe did not "belong."

"Who is he?" Bertine would say, with a lift of the eyebrow. "Where did he come from and who are his people?"

Well, some day Katharine would have a place of her own. She could ask her own friends there, as often as she liked. No one would dare to criticize them; or, if they did, she would not listen.

"Wool-athering, Princess Kitty?" She smiled at the lean, ascetic-looking man across the hearth.

"I guess so. You used to call me that when you first came here, John. 'Princess Kitty.' You were a very grand young man and I was in pigtails."

"A funny child you were, too," said John Kaye. "Just like a prickly pear. I tried so hard to make you smile."

"Was I that bad?" cried the girl. "Well, you were afraid of people. Shy—no. It wasn't exactly shyness. Distrust, I'm afraid. Poor little girl!"

Her throat tightened, her voice thickened as she said, "Don't Doctor John. You'll have me bursting into tears."

"Well, you've changed a lot, anyhow," said the man. "You're not afraid of anyone any more. That's the stuff, Katharine. Look life in the face and tell 'em all to go to hell."

"Good advice," said Katharine, smiling.

Lights flashed up in the overhead fixture and Bertine Strykhurst bustled in.

"What are you two doing, mooning here in the dark? You ought to get into your things and take a brisk walk," cried Bertine. "Katharine doesn't take enough exercise. That's why she droops around so, half-alive."

Angry words sprang to the girl's lips and were suppressed. Dr. Kaye looked at her warningly.

"I played three sets of tennis in the broiling sun yesterday," Katharine said, keeping her tone good-humored with an effort. "And I rode horseback in the morning. Doesn't that count?"

Bertine gave her own supprior little laugh.

"Oh, I guess we know why all the young ladies in town have taken to riding of late. I guess we could tell a thing or two about that."

Katharine clenched her hands. With an effort she controlled her voice. "Really?"

Bertine turned to Dr. Kaye as if for understanding and sympathy. "You wouldn't believe how silly the girls are nowadays about the first decent-looking male creature in breeches. Why, I heard today that Sally Moon is going to marry the fellow."

"Marry whom?" the doctor asked.

"Why that young man who runs the riding place," cried Bertine, in triumph. "That chap who calls himself Heatheroe."

John Kaye, glancing at Katharine, was shocked by the drawn look on her face.

"Why, there's something here," he said to himself, in surprise. "This means something to her."

RIALTO

"Strangers All" starring May Robson, Preston Foster and other leading Hollywoodites opens Thursday and plays to Saturday at the Rialto theatre. It is the age old story told in a new way of a mother who feels her self willed children are breaking up the home. It is told with frequent laughter and an occasional tear. May Robson plays the mother harried from pillar to post by her brood.

On the same bill is the "Healer" featuring Karen Morley and Ralph Bellamy in the story of a simple country preacher ruined by a woman's sophistication to pervert his wonderful healing powers. Playing this time today is "Nell Gwynn" starring Anna Neagle.

"Breath of Spring" dinnerware which has been so popular with Rialto fans again will be distributed today.

Bronk Buster In Comeback

CALGARY, July 10—Harry Knight, sensational bronk buster from Banff, Alta., near death from injuries two years ago, made his comeback at the Calgary stampede Tuesday in as beautiful a ride as the 'wild-cheering fans have ever seen.

Thrown from a bucking horse at the Chicago rodeo two years ago to suffer broken bones that almost proved fatal, Knight dropped quietly on his horse in the North American bucking horse riding contest, rode the outlaw and came back to find he had taken first place.

Stub Bartlemay, of Arlington, Ore., 1934 North American champion, placed next to Knight when he prodded his horse to get a fine ride out of a comparatively quiet animal. Harley Walsh, Madden, Alta., took first money in the Canadian event.

Australian Premier's Wife Finds Eleven Children No Detriment To Her Career

By BESS FURMAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Mrs. J. A. Lyons, whose speechmaking, article-writing life as wife of the Australian Prime Minister closely parallels Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt's, today celebrated her 38th birthday at White House tea.

Beamingly she chose the occasion to talk about her 11 children—Desmond, Sheila, Enid, Kathleen, Moira, Kevin, Brendan, Barry, Rosemary, Peter, and Janice. Their ages range from 18 years to "about 20 months."

How could she keep a career going and keep 11 children going at the same time? The plump and blonde Mrs. Lyons just considers such things as sewing—making all the little children's things herself—"a real delight and relaxation."

"Doing anything with the hands is a spiritual refreshment," she said. "Though, to tell the truth I once thought making little boys trousers a terrible job. And it actually has been pretty difficult at times."

NO REASON IN PREJUDICES

"Still, I could get someone to stay with the babies once in a while, while I went out and made speeches. My husband is a great believer in the civic equality of the sexes, he is very fair that way. So please him I took up politics. I wasn't 18 when he married me—he was then Minister of Education.

"When I was a candidate for parliament—I had seven children then—women were afraid to why wasn't this woman at home taking care of her children? My answer was that if I had spent my time playing bridge, I would have been a huge success socially.

"Women's criticism seemed to me prejudice without reason behind them. Men's was more reasoned and of two types—the first group contending women's place was in the home, by which they meant ground down by household ties.

"The other was that women were too fine for the sordid political atmosphere. I said if it was too sordid it was time some cleaning influence got to work.

"President Roosevelt evidently adopts exactly the same attitude as my husband—woman is just as much right, just as much public duty, as a man has."

Mrs. Lyons described herself as "all infused with the charm of Mrs. Roosevelt."

Weddings

CAMERON — PAGE

ELNORA, July 10.—The wedding of interest took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Page, Elnora, on Wednesday, July 3, when their daughter, Minnie, became the bride of Mr. Jack Cameron, East Coulee. Rev. J. G. Pinkerton officiated.

The bride was charming in a gown of dainty frilled blue net over taffeta and wore a white picture hat with white accessories, and carried a bouquet of roses and lilies.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Mildred Page, and Miss Zna Cameron, Drumheller, sister of the groom. The bridesmaids wore dresses of yellow chiffon voile, with matching accessories, and carried bouquets of sweet peas.

The bride's mother received the guests in a smart blue ensemble, and wore a corsage of roses.

The table, adorned with wild roses and snapdragons, was centred with a beautiful three tiered wedding cake made by the bride's mother.

After a dainty buffet luncheon, Mr. and Mrs. Cameron left for a honeymoon trip to Nelson, B.C., and other points.

- JASPER - JOTTINGS

By FAY PARKER

How many of us can say that we have never been late to work in twenty years? Yet that is the proud record of John M. McKenzie, who retired on June 30 as machinist-helper in the Jasper railway shops. "Jock" as he is known to all his associates was the recipient of a purse of money from his shopmates. He left the Land o' the Heather in 1913, and was first employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway at Kamloops, and transferred to the old Canadian Northern in 1914, and went out on construction work. In 1916, with his family he was stationed at Lucerne, B.C., and moved to Jasper when that terminal was discarded, in 1924, and has been continuously employed here ever since. Mr. McKenzie is also a charter member of the Jasper Park Lodge No. 143, A. F. & A. M., and an elder of the Jasper United church.

Professor Walter Elwood of Amsterdam, New York, who is keenly interested in wild life, has been making his headquarters at the Lake Edith Chalet, while he has procured some interesting studies of the native animals of the park. He took some excellent movies of beavers at work, and of several lordly moose. At present he is in Mt. Robson Park, but will return again to Jasper for additional photographs of animals in their natural haunts. Stalking game with a camera requires much patience and great skill.

Dare one whisper that a beloved favorite of the movie world, will visit Jasper during the summer? Particularly exciting to the younger generation, is the news that Joe E. Brown is that person.

Last Saturday the Women's Auxiliary of St. Mary's and St. George's church held the second of their summer food sales in the Jeffery Store. These affairs are planned for the summer months, and this proved as successful as that held in June. Mrs. W. Bryden, president of the W.A. was in charge, with a committee of members assisting.

Splendid catches of rainbows are rewarding the fishermen at Minnewanka Lake this week, while those in Caledonia are proving temperamental. Of course Beaver and Medicine are turning out limit creels as usual, and some nice ones have been taken from Medicine Lake, while the former haunt of the big trout, now quite at home in the tank in the Information Bureau window.

EDMONTONIANS HOLIDAY AT JASPER PARK

JASPER, Alta., July 10.—The sparkling waters of Lake Edith, about seven miles from Jasper town, reflect the brilliantly colored canoes and boats of the holiday seekers, nearly all of whom call Edmonton home. Along the motor road after passing Jasper Park Lodge, the first lovely cabin on Lake Trefoil is that of Mr. and Mrs. J. McKibbon, formerly of Edmonton, who is entertaining her daughter, Mrs. H. D. Kobold of Winnipeg, also well known in the city. At the Lake Edith Chalet, operated by the Y.M.C.A. of Edmonton and in charge of Mr. and Mrs. J. Barratt and Don Burton, Miss Gweneth Crowe and Miss Essie Crowe of Edmonton have been holidaying, and Dr. Lloyd Newson is expected this week.

As members of the attractive cottage colony, that of Mrs. W. L. Wilkin and party, are occupying the Emery cottage. Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Downes are in the Dr. Walker cabin, while Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Cameron and family are domiciled next door. Weber Chalet is now open, with Mrs. Roy Weber and family here for the summer months. The Cornwall cottage is occupied by Mrs. Emerson C. Smith, Mrs. R. T. Washburn and son, with Dr. Smith and Dr. Washburn spending several days here earlier in the month. "Heart's Desire" will be opened soon by Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Brown who have spent many summers on the shores of Lake Edith. Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Starky have opened their cabin and spend much time on the Jasper Park golf course. Mr. and Mrs. C. F. Morrison and Mrs. Allen Cameron are occupying one of the log cabins, as well as Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Clark and party. These are all Edmonton residents. The last cabin is occupied for the summer by Mr. and Mrs. H. Mellor of Jasper.

THREE SILVER WEDDINGS ARE CELEBRATED

RIMBEY, July 10.—Silver wedding celebrations are the vogue in the district north of Rimbey. The third since the first of the year was celebrated recently, when nearly 80 friends of Mr. and Mrs. Fred C. Bowser gathered at their home to join in anniversary festivities and to present gifts of silver to them in honor of the occasion. Mr. and Mrs. Kenner's two daughters, Myrtle and Florence and the only son, Charles, were present.

Canada's Governor-General Designate Honored At Dinner

One of the more renowned books written by John Buchan, Lord Tweedsmuir, Canada's governor-general designate, "The 39 Steps," has been produced as a film by Gaumont-British. In honor of the event, a dinner was given by Beverley Baxter, former Torontonian, and now head of the film company, which Lord and Lady Tweedsmuir attended. The film will be shown in Canada simultaneously with the arrival of the new governor-general. The group here shows (left to right), Mrs. Mark Osterr, Lord Tweedsmuir, Mr. Beverley Baxter and Lady Tweedsmuir.

the social round . . .

THERE were many blooms at the market stalls, filling the air with perfume and lifting their lovely flower faces in the most exotic confusion of color. Buyers looked here and there, and it was surprising how many friends and acquaintances seemed to gather about the same places a-marketing Saturday morning. A gentleman fingered a strange purply colored bloom, smelled it, and of course priced it, just as a friend came up, and attracted by the same flowers exclaimed "How lovely! Why, I've never seen these flowers before; what kind are they?" "Arthritus," replied the gentleman with dignity, passing on. Probably he was just having a little private twinge.

In the pathway of the sun,
In the footsteps of the breeze,
Where the world and sky are one,
He shall ride the silver seas.

Brew my tea, and snip my thread;
Bleach the linen for my bed.
They will call him brave.

The silver jubilee of the Overseas League in Edinburgh, was celebrated by a banquet attended by about 300 members and friends, the principal guests being Lord Tweedsmuir, Governor-General designate of the Dominion of Canada, and Sir John Evelyn Wrench, C.M.G., the founder of the league. The gathering was presentative of practically every part of the Empire.

Lord Tweedsmuir, proposing "The Overseas League," said there was one Scottish quality valuable in Empire making. There was a wandering race. They covered the globe. They accepted new things readily. They gave loyalty to new countries. Yet, but they never forgot the roots wherein they were hewn, and they cherished the traditions attaching to it. That power gladly to cherish, while holding fast to the old, was the quality which above all others, had made the Empire and would maintain it.

Edmonton Artist Is Graduated In Vienna

Friends and interested acquaintances of Miss Marjorie Noble, daughter of Mrs. F. D. Noble and the late Mrs. Clara E. Noble will be pleased to hear of her graduation with the highest distinction from the State Academy of Music and Dramatic Art in Vienna, Austria. In her final test she performed before the president and directors of the Academy and their decision was unanimous in giving her the highest standing as a graduate For the last two years of her course she studied piano under the internationally famous Russian teacher Madam Andready. All her written examinations were in German, one of the languages she has mastered during her stay in Vienna.

Miss Noble had the extreme good fortune under her mother's wise and judicious foresight to be placed under the guardianship of Baron Freudenthal and his daughter, Baronness Marguerite Freudenthal, in whose home she has been treated as a guest and who have given her invaluable help and encouragement in all her efforts.

Before leaving Edmonton Miss Noble was a most promising piano student of Miss Clara King. Mr. Virgo Kihl, who examined pupils when she was ten years old, and gave her first class honors, said she was the most talented young pupil he had heard that year. At the age of fifteen she obtained her A.T.C.M. (Artist's Course) with honors under Signor Alberto Guerrero

Miss Noble will remain for another year at least as a student of the Vienna University, and will continue her piano studies as a private student of Andreadly.

I.O.D.E. Hears Of New Chapt. In Edmonton

TORONTO, July 10. — A letter from His Majesty the King expressing appreciation of the address sent to him by the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire, on the occasion of his Silver Jubilee, was read at the meeting of the National Executive at the headquarters, Toronto, last week. The letter, forwarded by His Excellency the Governor-General, referred particularly to the sincere and loyal language in which the illuminated addresses were couched.

Mrs. W. G. Lumbers, National president, presided at the session, the last of the season, and announced a new chapter in Edmonton to be known as the Kathleen Parlow Chapter—in honor of the famous violinist of Alberta, and the other a junior chapter in Saskatoon.

Topics suggested by the Empire study convener for chapter study this year were the Reign of King George V.—using as text-book "The King's Grace," by John Buchan, and General Hornby's "Plan for Empire Settlement." Three books added to the list for Canadian study program are "Candide," by Wilfred Bovey; "To the Arctic With the Mounties" by Douglas S. Robertson, and "Mere Marie of the Ursulines," by Agnes Repplier.

ADVISORY COUNCIL

A new policy was launched in the formation of an I.O.D.E. Advisory Council which, to date, includes Miss Joan Arnold, Mrs. W. H. Barker, Mrs. Graham Thompson, Mrs. Arthur Vaughan. It was reported by the press convener that a special issue of the Sherbrooke Telegram had been published to mark the silver jubilee of the founding of the order in that city. The press clipping and scrapbook competitions will be continued and prizes awarded, the convener stated.

The Empire Day in India convener showed that a concerted effort had been made in Brantford to further the Suie Sorabji memorial at St. Helena's School in which five class rooms are now occupied. A member of the Kaiser-i-Hind Chapter in Poona marked the first birthday of her first baby by sending its picture to the King-Emperor.

Washington Welcomes All Babes-In-Arms

WASHINGTON, July 10. — Representative Blanton (D., Tex.) wants mothers of babes in arms to know the United States House of Representatives doorkeeper himself says they are welcome to nurse their progeny in the House gallery.

To get this idea across and, incidentally, to spike what he denounced as erroneous reports that a mother was escorted from the gallery on June 27 for such an act, the Texas Democrat sought house consideration of a resolution saying such reports were incorrect.

Although the resolution was laughed down good-naturedly, Blanton accomplished his purpose of getting into the record a letter from Doorkeeper J. J. Sinnott giving an account of the incident and concluding:

"Mothers have nursed babies in the gallery before this incident and they have never been interfered with. They are welcome at all times."

Must Weather First Five Years Of Marriage

According to statist.-, nearly half of the divorces are secured during the first five years of married life. This would seem to put a somewhat sardonic interpretation on love's dream and to indicate that it is not made of the stuff that stands the wear and tear of domestic life.

Considering that the great majority of men and women marry because they feel that existence without each other would be dust and ashes, it is surprising that so many find within so short a time that life with each other is hell. The setting of the honeymoon is too sudden. The disillusionment too quick.

Dorothy Dix

If in the course of years and years of marriage a husband and wife got fed up on each other, it would not be surprising. If the inevitable friction of matrimony wore some of the gilt off the gingerbread, we could understand it. But for two turtledoves to be instantaneously transformed in the short space of five years into fighting cocks pecking each other's eyes out is a transformation so hideous that it shocks us.

Yet, after all, it is not difficult to see why the first five years of marriage are the most dangerous. They are dangerous for the same reason that all beginnings are dangerous. Because those undertaking them are amateurs who lack experience and skill and technique; who are so ignorant that they do not even know what dangers they are due to encounter, much less how to avoid them.

Although boys and girls have observed marriage as a working institution ever since they were born and have seen that it functioned none too smoothly and successfully; although they have assisted, in the French sense, at the daily spats of their parents, they are still convinced that their marriages will be entirely different. Their marriages will always be glamorous and they will always be romantically in love with each other. They will always see each other as godlings. They will never squander love bills. All will be peace and beauty.

On this romantic platform they marry, and it gives way under them. And in their youth and inexperience in far too many cases they proceed to wreck the structure instead of trying to patch up the wide places. It doesn't look a romantic hero to Mary any more when she sees him with a stubble of beard on his face. She is amazed to discover that he can be unreasonable about letting shave shop, selfish and opinionated and, worst of all, critical of her. John is equally disillusioned when he sees Mary with her complexion off and her temper on, and when he finds out that she has some little ways and a clothes complex; that she knows nothing about housekeeping, and that he has to watch his step for fear of saying something that will precipitate a riot.

Another reason why there are so many divorces among the young is that boys and girls do not know how to adjust themselves to each other when they marry, and they quarrel over a thousand things that older people would diplomatically pass over in peace. It takes age and experience to teach us how to live with others and to adapt ourselves to them without friction.

Youth also lacks the philosophy of marriage which enables us to make the best of its good and minimize its evil, and which is happiness even out of living with a husband or wife who is not our hearts' desire. That is what enables so many couples to hang up endurance records.

All of which seems to indicate that those who can live though the first five years of marriage have a fair chance of celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.

Sheer cotton prints are delightful for this model. Other nice mediums are shantung linen, eyelet batiste, checked seersucker, tub silks, etc.

Style No. 2686 is designed for sizes 14, 16, 18 years, 36, 38 and 40 inches bust. Size 16 requires 3 yards of 39-inch material for dress; and 1½ yards of 39-inch material with 1¾ yards of 39-inch lining for jacket.

The Debunker

By John Harvey Furbay, Ph.D.

Hair is a dead substance. There are no nerves or blood vessels in it, and it is not sensitive to pain or disease. It is produced by the skin, which is a living substance, and is dead as soon as it is pushed up out of the skin. The root of the hair is inside the skin. Nails, feathers, fur and claws are all similar to hair and in that they are dead substances, and are all are outgrowths of the skin.

A BEDTIME STORY

Story by HAL. COCHRAN Pictures by GEORGE SCARBO

The friendly sea man sure could run. He shouted, "Are you having fun?" And Scouty answered, "Sure we are! We think this ride is swell."

That you are strong as strong can be mon anyone could plainly see. I think it quite a stunt, the way you pull us in this shell."

The man then laughed and said, "Now, look ahead, you Tinies, and you'll see a palace that is grand. It is the palace of the sea. It's where I make my home."

"Of course I travel all around, but when night comes, I can be found right back inside the wonderous place, no matter where I roam."

The Tinies hopped out of the shell, and Windy shouted, "This is swell! The palace is of stones and shells. Two guards are at the door."

"They're funny frogs. I hope that they will not step up and block our way. Gee, that would ruin all the fun that we know is in store."

"Why, say, I could keep this up through the day. The total weight of all you tots is really rather small."

"As long as you hang on real tight, I know that all will be all right. The task I've undertaken doesn't bother me at all."

Soon Goldy shouted, "Oh, I wish that we would see some real strange fish. I know there must be some down here, but they keep out of sight."

"Oh, no they don't. Just look at that. There's one that's very big and fat," cried Coppy. "It's so ugly that it near filled me with fright."

Real Art In Making Up Achieves Naturalness

By GLADYS GLAD
"America's Most Famous Beauty"

The art of make-up, contradictory as it may seem, is to achieve a perfectly natural and unmade-up look. To do this one has to have skill in make-up and one's very fingertips. Powder, for instance, is a most important cosmetic, but you must be very careful in applying it. First coat your face thickly with powder, using a soft puff, and then, with a tiny powder-blending brush, tone down and blend the powder until it presents a smooth, natural, transparent appearance.

Even if your skin is naturally smooth and flawless, you should be particularly careful in applying powder during the summer months. Never apply it unless your face is perfectly clean. The improper use of powder constitutes one of the greatest causes of facial eruptions during the summer, and it's mostly because this cosmetic is so often applied over a dirty skin.

The reason why it is harmful to apply powder over a soiled skin during the summer is, that in hot weather, the skin exudes a great deal of oil and moisture, and particles of dirt and grime accumulate quickly on a moist, greasy skin, you know. The oil and moisture attract the dirt and dust in the air, and hold them on the skin. If, when the skin is in this condition, a layer of powder is fluffed on, and a puff rubbed over the face, the oil, grime and powder will accumulate in the pores. And blackheads, blemishes and eruptions will be the result.

Of course, it may be difficult for the average femme to cleanse her skin thoroughly each time that her face requires re-powdering, but she should be prepared to do so, in case the opportunity does happen to present itself.

It isn't very inconvenient for a gal to keep in her purse a tiny tube of cleansing cream and a small vial of some good astringent lotion. Even a bit of liquid cleanser may conveniently be carried about. When it is impossible to employ such cleansing agents, however, a woman should at least have a bit of soft cleansing tissue, sterilized cotton or a clean handkerchief with her. Any of these may—and should—be employed to remove the oil and accumulated dirt and grime from the skin before the face is repowdered.

Your Children -

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

"Wilbur, when you get to the corner, why do you always look across the lot and come in the back way? I have seen you do it every time for the last week."

"Oh, just because," said the little boy, "I do it both ways."

But soon his mother discovered that all the times the boy did it "the other way" and came whistling up the street, Mrs. Porter wasn't on her front porch knitting. When she was out, those were the times a fellow scuttled through the lot and did not have to compass the lady at all.

O. R. Barton

"So," thought his mother, "that's it. She got after him and Bert Gibbons the other day for stepping on a rose bush in her yard. They become monsters of terror that are purely imaginative.

"The too-protected child may easily grow up without moral courage. If he does he will be unhappy far beyond any power of words to describe.

He will have to learn that certain acts, even accidents, bring consequences.

RESPONSIBILITY TOO OFTEN SHIFTED

"I believe part of the trouble is that you have never taught him to face results and look them squarely in the face. You knew he saw Bert, and 'shielded him all you could. When he fell, you probably hit the step and said, 'Bad step for hurting Wilbur,' or if he got muddy you may have said, "When will they pave that street?'

"I think, my dear, it isn't exactly kind to a child, even a sensitive one, to underrate his ability to take it, and shift responsibility to something else besides his own impulsiveness. Wilbur's fibs are silly and evades the principle of restitution. They can't bear the feeling of guilty."

This is true. A lesson all children have to learn, and the sooner the better is just emphasis or sand. A little word of deserved rebuke should not floor them or worm around in their self-esteem. They become monsters of terror that are purely imaginative.

The too-protected child may easily grow up without moral courage. If he does he will be unhappy far beyond any power of words to describe.

Let Your Refrigerator Supplant Your Fireplace

By MARY E. DAGUE

The thing to do with your refrigerator in hot weather is to give it the place of honor that your fireplace occupies in winter—make it the heart of the home and center all activities around it. The housekeeper will have more time for herself as a result and the family will have better meals.

Fruit cocktails, fruit soups and jellied soups should be made hours before serving and thoroughly chilled. Even hot soups can be quickly cooled and kept on ice for refreshing when wanted.

All salad materials are nicer if allowed to chill thoroughly before serving, and salad dressings keep for a week on ice.

Jellied meat loaf can be prepared the day before. Cold boiled tongue, boiled or baked ham, cold roasts, such as cold cuts from the ice box. Many hot meat dishes are good re-heated.

Keep a dish of cold boiled potatoes on hand for potato salad; potatoes au gratin, potatoes in cheese, potato omelet, hashed brown potatoes or old-fashioned fried. These all are good with cold cuts and are economical besides.

Here are menus for refrigerator meals:

MENU NO. 1

Jellied meat-loaf, potatoes in cheese sauce, corn on the cob, stuffed tomato salad, red raspberry shortcake, milk, coffee.

The meat-loaf should be made early in the morning or the day before and kept in the ice-box. The potatoes are diced ready to reheat in the sauce or the sauce can be made, potatoes added and the whole put in a covered baking dish ready to pop in the oven the minute the heat is turned on. Corn on the cob will cook in eight minutes after the water boils. The shortcake is made of baking powder biscuit dough which has been mixed ready for the milk. Or else you can buy one of the prepared flours.

Cold sliced meat, lattice potatoes, green beans in cream, jellied cabbage salad, Dutch peach cake, milk, coffee.

Did you know that brilliantine brushed on the edges of your hair will help it to shed the water that sneaks under your bathing cap? Try it on the sides and back of your head, where you usually have to take a towel to dry stray locks.

A cold roast of lamb or beef, cold boiled tongue, pressed corned beef, cold boiled ham or baked ham provide variety in cold sliced meats. The potatoes can be made the day before or early in the morning and stored in an airtight box until wanted for reheating. Cook the beans early in the morning, cool quickly and keep covered in the ice box until ready to reheat in a thin rich cream sauce or real cream. Shredded cabbage, grated carrots and minced sweet green peppers are added to a lime jelly and the mixture chilled all day in the refrigerator. The dry ingredients for the peach cake are mixed ready to add the milk and egg when ready to bake. The cake will bake while the main part of the dinner is being eaten.

Tomorrow's Menu

BREAKFAST: Fresh plums, crisp broiled Bacon with scrambled eggs, bran and raisin muffins, milk, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Cream of corn soup, minced ham sandwiches, carrot sticks, chocolate cup cakes, lemonade.

DINNER: Pressed corned beef, old-fashioned fried potatoes, ten-minute cabbage, Apple and celery salad, blueberry pie, milk, coffee.

What's What

We (three young business women) have taken tickets for a garden party given by a wealthy widow. It is a subscription affair, the proceeds to be devoted to charity. We've never attended an affair of this type before. Do we wear formal or informal dress? Do we speak to the hostess? How long should we stay? It begins at 3 o'clock. L. G. AND A.

Answer—A garden party is nearly an afternoon tea held out of doors in a floral setting. Dress is semi-formal. Women and girls wear all-white or flowered Summer frocks of ankle length, with gloves and shade hats. Men wear white linen suits or suit coats with white trousers. Guests arrive between 3 and 4; at 4, or a little afterward, tea and tiny sandwiches are served, followed by cakes and ices. Guests begin to leave at about 4 o'clock. Only personal acquaintance, engage in conversation with the hostess, but if, as sometimes happens, there is a reception to a distinguished speaker or guest artist, every one has an opportunity to exchange greetings with Mme. La Veuve.

Is a napkin completely opened at table? After dinner, does a guest refold the napkin? How are finger-bowls used? DAN.

Answer—A breakfast, luncheon or tea napkin may be unfolded completely, but a large dinner napkin is opened only to a lengthwise fold, or about one-third of its width. A guest does not refold the napkin after dinner; it is left on the table "as is." Only napkins of the finest are placed in a finger-bowl. Then the moistened tips touch the fingers of the other hand before drying them with a slight pressure of the napkin.

ABLE OFFENCE WINS GAME

One seldom holds a powerful hand as West's, and yet South bid and made 6 diamonds doubled. The declarer admitted that he expected to go down two tricks, but declarer's able play gave him a doubled contract and game.

The hand is a very interesting one. Look it over. See what you can win against an opening lead of the king of clubs, provided opponents make no mistakes.

Win the first trick with dummy's ace. Lead the 3 of diamonds. Unless the 10 is played second, win with declarer's 5. Lead only spade. It will do West no good to duck. Play the ace. West may as well win his second trick with the good queen of clubs.

The most natural thing for West to do is to lead his king of hearts. Win with dummy's ace. Lead the good king of spades and discard one of South's hearts. Lead dummy's last heart, giving West his third defensive trick. Lead anything you please from West's hand. He cannot lead a trump, as his only one went on the second trick. Dummy holds the K-9 of trumps and four worthless spades. East has the 8 of hearts, two worthless clubs and the 10-8-7 of trumps. South has the 9 of hearts, the A-Q-J-3 of trumps and the 9 of clubs. West has the Q-J of spades, the Q-J of hearts and the J-10 of clubs.

Suppose you lead one of West's good spades, allowing East to discard his last heart. South will trump with his 3 and lead the 9 of clubs, which dummy's lowest trump. Lead back a spade and ruff with declarer's 2. East will discard his last club. Lead the last heart held by South and ruff with the 9 of trumps. East will have to under-ruff. The last two tricks must go to declarer's A-Q of clubs, making the 6-odd doubled.

The first possible variation in defensive play is for West to refuse to win the third trick with his ace of spades, allowing dummy's king to win. One thing declarer may do is to lead back dummy's last club, giving West his first defensive trick. Then the old routine will follow. Dummy will ruff one club and one heart. South will ruff two spades. At the end West will have the last heart trick, instead of the spade trick and one heart trick. South will fulfill his doubled contract. South plays carefully he cannot be defeated, after the opening lead of the king of clubs.

WOULD RE-OPEN OLD TRAIL TO PEACE RIVER

Edson Trade Board Suggests Flood Makes New Route Necessary

With the Edmonton-Peace River highway impassable due to flood conditions in the Lesser Slave Lake area, Edson Board of Trade has recommenced its campaign to obtain a highway from Edson to Grande Prairie, according to John Blue, secretary of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce.

Following up their campaign the Edson board has revived its former resolution which read:

"Whereas the trail from Edson to Grande Prairie was completed at considerable cost after it had been commenced by means of subscriptions from Edson citizens and as it has served the purpose of connection into Grande Prairie and has been used by the greater part of the settlers who have made the district their home;

"And whereas for a period it was the only route between the railway at Edson and the settlers in Grande Prairie along which a wagon load of mail was conveyed on a bi-weekly service and a truck was able to travel over the entire route;

"And whereas while the route has been abandoned for mail purposes and the traffic along the trail has been small for some years past, the light traffic has left the trail in better condition in many places than when it was in regular use, and it is now for the most part in passable condition except as to ferries, bridges and culverts;

"And whereas from the Grande Prairie end there is a regular mail service along the trail by motor to Sturgeon Lake, a distance of 75 miles, whilst south of Sturgeon Lake there is a passable road for motors for a distance of 20 to 30 miles;

"And whereas from Edson to the Athabasca River there is a frequently travelled trail of which 20 to 30 miles is good road;

"Now, therefore, this board resolves that attention of the government be called to condition of the trail and that the government be asked to consider the question of restoring usefulness of the trail by such repairs as will make it passable throughout."

Power House Man Dies At Job Tuesday

William Tierney, 58, timekeeper since 1920 at the city power plant, dropped dead at his work early Tuesday morning. Heart trouble is believed to have been the cause.

At the time death struck he was at work on a chair. The body was removed to Howard and McBride's chapel and funeral arrangements are being made. Mr. Tierney whose death follows that of William Todd, June 25, after many years as chief of the pumping station, lived in this city for past 25 years and resided at 9604 103 street.

Chicken thieves who broke into the property of John Walsh, 10736 73 street and took four of his hens, helped themselves to a full meal in addition, getting away with 12 heads of lettuce and four pounds of tomatoes. Nearby, feathers from the decapitated poultry lying near the henhouse was evidence that the thieves prepared their meal on the spot.

Spirited Discussion Ensues Over Salaries to be Paid New Appointments to Staff.

The "touchy" question of revision of Edmonton school teachers' salary schedules, that has occupied the attention of the board several times in the past few weeks, remained still unsettled after a meeting of the school board Tuesday night.

Following a limited amount of discussion, the board voted to refer the matter to a meeting of the committee of the board as a whole.

SPIRITED DISCUSSION

After decision to place the matter before the committee of the whole board had been made, a spirited discussion ensued over salaries to be paid new appointments to the staff.

Trustee F. C. Casselman held the view that these teachers should be hired at the rates proposed in the revised schedule.

He declared the financial plight of the city demanded that a drastic paring of expenditure must be made at once. If the board later decided to retain present salaries the new teachers would be paid what the schedule called for.

Trustee Dr. Frank Crang urged that cuts in debentures and bonds should be made before there was a further reduction in salaries. He quoted an article from a Winnipeg newspaper in support of his contention that it is possible to cut bond rates. Holders of municipal debentures, the article stated, were holding meetings for the purpose of seeing what reductions might be made to the near bankrupt municipality.

SPENDING POWER TOO LOW

"We cut, cut, cut salaries until our spending power is away too low at present. That's not the way to cure the evil," he declared.

Trustee S. A. G. Barnes was inclined to a similar view. He felt that cuts should be made "where it hurts least" and not where it "hurts the most."

Teachers should be on the same basis as all civic and government employes, chairman Dr. Walter Morrish said. If this had been the case here the board would have saved an additional $48,000 this year, he declared. Dr. Morrish explained he did not favor the principle of salary reductions but civil servants were reduced with the understanding the cuts would be restored when better times returned, thus eliminating the difficulties in connection with setting up new salary schedules.

HAVE PENSION PLAN

A representative of the Teachers' Alliance said that "dickers" would be compared to civil servants, as the latter have a pension plan. He said the teaching staff readily accepted the proposed schedule in exchange for a pension scheme.

The board finally agreed that new teachers would be paid the existing salaries of substitute teachers until new schedules are drawn up. That rates are $900 per year for public and $1,300 for high school teachers.

The number of teachers in fact there were many teachers without employment who would be "tickled to death" to have positions at the proposed new schedule. He said he had personally interviewed about 200 teachers and only 20 of these were anxious to get the work.

A resolution from the Civic Government Association, in which taxpayers of the city urgently requested the cost of education be reduced by 10 mills, was left over until the first meeting in September.

Spending an afternoon of games, dancing, bathing and other beach sports, the holidayers will return to the city late this evening.

Assembling at the store gloomy morning brought cheer to employees and friends of Woodward's Store when made the trip. Extensive preliminary organization promised a happy outing for all who left on the excursion train.

They Just Could Not Do Without Their Newspaper

"My kingdom for a newspaper," was the plaintive cry of mem-bers of the Southgate Liberal Board of Review, during the days they were held prisoners at Grande Prairie by serious flood conditions.

That's what S. H. McCuaig, M.L.A., and his party, who were returned to Edmonton by airplane Monday night, told a Bulletin reporter Tuesday.

"What's been going on in the world?" Mr. McCuaig asked on his arrival here.

"If there's one thing we missed during our enforced stay at Grande Prairie it was the daily newspapers," he added.

MAYOR FAVORS IMPROVEMENTS TO AUTO CAMP

Favoring a further extension to the South Side auto camp, following his first official visit to the camp, Wednesday morning, Mayor J. A. Clarke stated that the city should erect a few more tourists' cabins if the necessary funds are available.

The mayor said that business at the motorists' stopping-place had been excellent during the past two weeks, and that travellers who were unable to find sleeping quarters at the camp were going to bed-and-breakfast places. Using the camp to take advantage of its other services, such as the kitchen, laundry and rest room.

Edmonton Leads In Unemployed

Edmonton has the dubious distinction of leading Alberta cities in the number of persons employed for the seven-day period ending July 6, according to statistics issued by the Alberta Employment Service.

This city had 3,740 men and 376 women on the employment list for the period covered, against 3,196 men and 248 women in Calgary.

Total registered unemployed of both sexes numbered 8,724.

Police Court

"Don't ask for an interpreter around here if you are a naturalized British subject," Magistrate Col. P. C. H. Primrose ruled in police court Wednesday when two women, who both stated they were naturalized, asked for interpreters and declared they could not testify in English. "They can't blow hot and blow cold. They can't go before a judge and swear they can talk English and then come here and ask for an interpreter."

When Mrs. M. Nicholas answered a charge of assault upon Marion Derkach, aged 11, being accused of striking the child with her fist, she said she was naturalized and had been in this country since 1931. She had refused the service of an interpreter.

Mrs. Alice Derkach, mother of the child, stated she had been in Canada for 12 years and was a British subject but when she could not testify in English, she was dismissed from the witness stand.

Mrs. Doris Rankin testified in English that she had seen the accused strike the child.

Mrs. Nicholas, called in her own defence by her counsel, N. Romaniuk, gave only a series of smiling "nos" and shrugs to every question.

"I'm going to find out about this naturalization business," the magistrate said. "This case is adjourned to tomorrow morning and they will have to bring their papers so that I can see them. If the witness had said her husband took out the papers for her.

The interpreter was used to question them on their citizenship.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER

Newspapers print news, so political parties contesting the coming election in Alberta have turned to radio to put over their pure propaganda which the dailies cannot handle.

"Which party has impressed you most with its radio campaign?" asked The Bulletin's Inquiring Reporter today.

The replies follow below:

ABE W. MILLER, barrister: "I haven't heard any of them. I prefer to read and study rather than hear and guess at meanings."

JOHN "LEFTY" DUCEY, baseball umpire: "They are pretty good. The Liberals in not spending all their radio time in rapping the opposition have shown up rather well. However, words on radio are the same as words anywhere else, so it's action that really counts."

* * *

DR. H. M. LANDING, dentist: "I don't know enough about it to give you very much."

PAT WILSON, salesman: "While I am not a Communist, the Reds have made by far the best impression with their radio campaign. Their speakers confined themselves to attacking the system and not pulling the other parties to pieces."

* * *

ALEX WARD, delivery man: "I'd sum it up this way. Conservative radio speakers have used up 30 minutes of each 30-minute broadcast in tearing apart Social Credit. Communist speakers have spouted the expected catch phrase anti-everything chatter. Social Credit speakers made their broadcasts too much of a home and fireside thing, thanking our good friends for donations, tossing in a little religion here and there and quarrelling with the Attorney - General. Liberal speakers, while taking an occasional sharp dig at opponents, have largely confined themselves to explaining their desires and laying out the Liberal platform. U.F.A. speakers have become ridiculous in their battle of words with Social Credit and Labor has not been on the air enough to judge. So far the Liberals have presented the most constructive broadcasts."

Plan Tag Day To Defend Trekkers

Citizens' committee elected at Memorial hall mass meeting composed of Dr. Walter Murdoch, S. A. G. Barnes, Dr. Alexander, Elmer Roper, J. McPherson, Ald. Margaret Crang, H. Gerry, Rice Shepherd, Mrs. Ringwood, Jack Lawrence, have secured permission to hold a tag day this coming Saturday to raise funds for the legal defence of the trekkers charged with Edmonton. The camp trekkers did not go through Edmonton on their attempted trek to Ottawa as Edmonton citizens did not have an opportunity to demonstrate that they were with the marchers.

The Edmonton Citizens' committee call upon the citizens of Edmonton to rally to the defence of these boys, and hopes that they will demonstrate their support to the trekkers as citizens in other cities have done.

The committee appeals for volunteers to tag on Saturday. Those wishing to help in this work apply at room 11 Bradburn-Thomson block, or phone 2240.

Dr. A. W. Park, official physician to Military District No. 13, arrived in the city from Calgary Wednesday morning. He is on his regular inspection tour and pension business trip and is staying at the Macdonald hotel.

Mayor J. A. Clarke will address the Beverly Education Society at a meeting in the Athletic hall at Beverly on Thursday at 8:30 p.m. Subject of his address will be "What attitude should the Independent take during the forthcoming elections?"

Surplus of the city telephone department to date totals $85,060 as compared to $77,337 for the corresponding date last year, the figure for June being $13,085 and for June, 1934, $15,072. Telephones in service at the present time number 15,464 as against 14,922 at the corresponding time last year.

Dr. Walter Morrish will address a meeting of the Provincial Liberal Association in the Liberal club rooms, McLeod building, at 8 p.m. Thursday. The annual picnic to be held under the auspices of the Ukrainian section of the association, and a musical program will be provided.

CITY SEEKS NEW AGREEMENT WITH CALGARY POWER

Seeking an agreement with the Calgary Power Co. which would protect the city power supply while the local plant is undergoing the proposed $4,064,000 extension, a sub-committee of city council will confer with company officials in the near future, Mayor J. A. Clarke declared, Wednesday.

Alex Ritchie, acting superintendent of the plant, has been instructed to draft a report which will guide the committee in making representations to the company.

Favoring a straight interchange agreement under which the company's and city's plants would be operated to their capacity to each other, Mayor Clarke said he was opposed to Edmonton entering into a contract which would obligate it to purchase a definite amount of energy from the company. Edmonton had been dissatisfied about by reason of the fact that Edmonton, under the present agreement, was supplying Calgary Power customers with energy.

PETER MISKEW RETIRES FROM PUBLIC LIFE

Liberal Member for Victoria Not to Seek Nomination

ST. MICHAEL, July 10.—Peter Miskew, Liberal member of the provincial house for Victoria constituency, is leaving political life and will not attempt to have his name on a shortly-due nominating convention. He made this announcement on Tuesday afternoon during the course of a speech to his constituents here. He gave no reasons.

Peter Miskew

Mr. Miskew was appearing upon the platform at an afternoon gathering of about 150 persons, with W. R. Howson, M.L.A., provincial Liberal leader and J. S. McCallum, federal candidate for Vegreville riding. The meeting was a Liberal rally with Dr. Connolly, Andy Anderson and other speakers heard.

As in a late meeting at Bruderheim, most speakers directed their main fire against the impractibility of the Aberhart social credit proposals. Mr. Howson enlightened hearers as to the manner in which Albertans in all walks of life, all sections of political, social, laboring and industrial activity, had contributed to the revised party platform which is thoroughly representative of the needs of the people.

LEGISLATURE DIES AT MIDNIGHT HOUR

Alberta's seventh legislature will dissolve at midnight.

There will be no legislature until the next provincial general election. Supply was granted by the fifth session of the seventh legislature which prorogued on April 23, so that governmental affairs can carry on until March 31 next, by which time another legislature will have to be convened.

While no announcement as to date of the next general election has been made by Hon. R. G. Reid, in whom rests the authority to name the day, the appeal is generally believed to be made between 28 and Aug. 15.

The Alberta Election Act states that the legislature's life is for five years after the returns are made. The last legislature was elected on June 18, 1930 and returns were made on the expiration of 20 days after the election. Therefore, the life of the house expires at midnight, July 10.

It was learned that the telephone and railway passes issued to members of the house will not expire with the legislature. They are issued for the full calendar year and will be good until Dec. 31 next.

REPORT PLANNED ON CONDITIONS IN FLOOD AREA

Frank Burfield of the provincial government water resources branch and F. G. Goodspeed, Dominion government engineer are on their way to the Lesser Slave Lake and Slave River areas to study and report on the flood conditions existing the great Peace River territory, Hon. F. S. Grisdale, minister of agriculture announced on Wednesday.

This action is the result of the tremendous rains that have fallen this year and is consequent upon much negotiation between the provincial and Dominion government.

It has been determined that rainfall in the Peace area this year is three times the normal.

"The minister has received a telegram from H. A. Stewart, minister of public works, Ottawa, that Mr. Goodspeed will probe the whole question of the removal of wing dams from the river built many years ago by the department.

These dams have been restricting the flow of water particularly at high stages and according to Hon. Mr. Grisdale "there can be no question regarding responsibility of the Dominion government in this particular."

The flood conditions have been the subject of considerable telegraphic communication, copies of which have been made available by Hon. Mr. Grisdale.

Police Raid Club On Gaming Charge

Raiding a Ukrainian club at 10369 97 street about 10:30 p.m. Tuesday night, the city police morality squad, under Detective Sergeant Bert Petheram, arrested John McKay as the keeper of a gaming house and 12 others found in the place.

McKay appeared in police court Wednesday on a charge of keeping a gaming house, the men charged with being "found in" being Pete Repski, Charles Brendt, Stanley Lukash, Lucky Hanchy, Will Williams, Tony Sobola, Mike Stec, Adam Kotoski, Joseph Salone, Mike Calik, Steve Kuzna and Steve Sitkowsky. All were released on bail late last night.

City detectives who staged the raid were W. A. Smith, K. O.Brien, A. Wichensky and F. Kenny.

The men were all given an adjournment to Friday. McKay reserved his plea and the other men entered "not guilty" pleas.

Liberals Pledged Thorough Probe Of Social Credit

The Liberal party in Alberta is pledged to a thorough investigation of Social Credit, while rejecting the theories of William Aberhart as being wild, unsane and impracticable of attainment, G. H. Van Allen, K.C., Edmonton Liberal candidate in the provincial election campaign, declared at a meeting in St. Luke's Bonnie Doon Hall Tuesday night.

Social Credit should be applied only in cases of social necessity and not to rich and poor alike as Mr. Aberhart proposes, the speaker contended.

"Why should multi-millionaire Bennett receive a monthly dividend?" Mr. Van Allen asked.

The underprivileged, dependent mothers and ex-servicemen should be the ones to benefit by social credit, he said.

The large hall was packed to capacity for the meeting, at which Gerald O'Connor, Jack Marshall and Mrs. Marion Conroy, other Liberal candidates for city seats, also spoke briefly.

PEACE RIVER AUTO TRAFFIC DISCOURAGED

Highway Practically Impassable Owing to Flood Situation

Due to the serious situation created by floods in the Slave Lake district, rendering the Peace River highway practically impassable, all motor traffic over this highway is being discouraged by the provincial public works department, it is announced.

Swollen streams from the Swan Hills have inundated sections of the highway to such an extent that the gaps previously being bridged by scow and other temporary arrangements have widened considerably making it very difficult to cope with the situation until the flood waters have substantially receded.

Hon. N. E. Keith, deputy minister of public works stated that everything possible has been done to meet the emergency and to keep traffic moving, but the rains have been too heavy.

Teachers Caught By Peace Floods

Many teachers in various sections of the Peace River country, who planned to attend summer school courses at the University of Alberta, have been caught by the floods and are unable to reach the city, according to information reaching here.

Although several have come through the flood areas of the Smoky river and Lesser Slave lake, many who delayed their departure are now unable to attend as the flood has increased at Lesser Slave lake and the Smoky river bridges at Watino and Moody's crossing have been washed out.

W. T. M. Fowler, teacher from Grande Prairie, states that he was able to travel by car to High Prairie and get the last service from there, arriving in the city Sunday, but others are still marooned in the north.

LIBERAL WOMAN CANDIDATE ASKS GREATER ACTION

Pleading with women of Edmonton to take a more active part and show more interest in provincial and federal politics, Mrs. Marion Conroy, Liberal candidate for the legislature spoke to a capacity audience in the Lukes Hall, Tuesday night.

George H. Van Allen, K.C., and Jack Marshall both spoke, the former reviewing Mr. Aberhart's most recent Social Credit pamphlet and the latter sketching the policies and aims of the Liberal party.

An entertainment program under the chairmanship of Mrs. C. E. Ferris was presented, the artists including Miss Lucy Wilson and members of the North Edmonton male chorus.

ROAD REPORT

Continued rains in the north country have made the entire Peace River highway impassable from Athabasca to Fort St. John, according to Wednesday's official A. M. road survey. Ferry at Smith and the scow at Slave Lake are not operating.

Official report follows: Jasper highway, very muddy, nearly impassable; Peace River highway, bridges and ferries out, scow not running; St. Paul road, rough; North Battleford road, rough; Edmonton-Wetaskiwin, rough; Edmonton-Chauvin, rough; Edmonton-Hughenden, rough; Edmonton-Provost, rough. PATS and PANS by BILL LEWIS

You can well believe that the folks will be thumbing the pages of their Little Red Books today in an effort to find anything to equal a couple of performances that have just taken place here. . . . I am referring, if you haven't already gathered it, to the almost unbelievable events—two no-hit, no-run games within two days of each other, and both played in the same park in the same city. . . . There are not many things in the record books to surpass that.

If I had only been told about it happening, and hadn't seen for myself, then there might be a bit of doubt in my mind about the whole matter. . . . No-hit, no-run games are just about as scarce as the proverbial hen's teeth at any time, but to hear of two of them in the same park within two days would be a little hard for this recorder to believe if it had occurred somewhere else and I was hearing it from a stranger.

Sunday afternoon, Herman Loblick, Shasta Royals right-hander who hails from Spruce Grove, turned in a perfect game on the mound at he set back Wainwright by a score of 7-0. Then last night, along came big Les Webber with the Wetaskiwin squad. . . . Hurling against Shasta Royals, the young star Ike Davis brought with him from California, let them down without a safe hit or a run. . . . Both performances were everything any ball fan could ask for, too.

Last night was the first opportunity local fans have had of seeing Webber in action on the circuit and they certainly were the away much impressed with him. . . . A tall and rugged athlete, he has a fine delivery, plenty of speed and a good curve ball. . . . He's just a youngster—only 19 years old, mind you—and should have quite a future in the diamond pastime if that's a fair sample of his work.

Incidentally, Chief Jimmy Rattlesnake, also of this same Wetaskiwin club, tells me that he pitched a no-hit, no-run game. He, he says, was against Fredericksheim last year. . . . The Chief deserves a pat on the back, too.

Down East, the air is still ringing with the squawks of everybody connected with the National League over the protest of the game at Cleveland. . . . There is criticism of Frisch's failure to start Dal Schumacher against the American leaguers, questioning of the advisability of continuing the big annual feature, and, in other quarters, questioning and suggestions as to how it can be improved upon as a spectacle and attraction.

Eddie Wenstob, the Viking boy who made good in a big way in English fight circles since he left these parts last November, arrived back on this side of the Atlantic yesterday. . . . He is at present in New York. . . . While his manager, Mike "Kap" Kaplansky, has not as yet lined up any bouts for him on this side of the water, he hopes to make arrangements for some.

Cricket followers everywhere will learn with no little regret that Harold Larwood, the Nottinghamshire bowler, and William Voce have decided to decline selection on any future test teams. . . . They refuse to "take back" anything they said in newspaper comments during the body-line bowling controversy and therefore are definitely "out" as far as representative teams are concerned, it seems.

Fort Saskatchewan Beats Local Squad

FORT SASKATCHEWAN, July 10.—In an exhibition baseball game at Fort Saskatchewan last Sunday, the Forts defeated John Ducey's Arrow Busses by a 5-2 score. Edmonton juniors proved no match for the heavier hitting homesters who took their well merited victory easily.

From the minor leagues to the job of first string catcher of a potential pennant winning big-time team is the experience of Ed. HERR MAXIE MAY BATTLE TAN TERROR

BERLIN, July 10.—The probability of a May Schmeling-Joe Louis fight in New York in late summer loomed Tuesday as word was received from New York that Max Baer might undergo an operation on his hands, taking him out of the battle lists for some time.

Joe Jacobs, the manager of Schmeling, said he had a telephone conversation with Mike Jacobs, of the Twentieth Century Sporting Club, in New York, in which the possibility of a Schmeling-Louis Milk fund fight was discussed. The manager said he would talk to the promoter again today, after he had conferred with Walter Rothenburg, European promoter, who at present Bas Schmeling under contract.

CLIVE JUNIORS DEFEAT LACOMBE

LACOMBE, July 10.—The Central Alberta Junior Baseball League schedule opened at Lacombe last Friday with Clive winning over the home team by a 10-4 score.

Jones pitched effective ball for Clive and Frizzell hurled a good game but received ragged support in the fielding.

At the last moment, Alix decided not to enter the league as they are sponsoring a town team so the schedule will only have Clive, Red Deer and Lacombe for this season.

LINEUPS

Clive—Hampson, J. Wilson, Morton, Kocher, D. Wilson, Jeglum, Jones, Conrad, Dietz.

Lacombe—Perkins, Clift, Hoppus, Frizzell, Carter, Winters, Douglas, Cressy, Danner.

VERSATILITY RETURNS

NEW YORK.—Old-time baseball days, when players didn't specialize in one position, may be coming back. Back in 1923 Mel Ott of the Giants, Freddy Lindstrom of the Cubs and Pepper Martin of the Cardinals were outfielders. You'll find them at third base most of the time this season.

Young Wetaskiwin Mound Star Turns In Perfect Game

Only Two Royals Reach First on Error and Walk as Visitors Win 4-0—Glen Wilkie Also Hurls Fine Ball

By BILL LEWIS

Baseball's hall of fame last night threw open its doors to admit husky Les Webber, brilliant young pitcher who came north from California only a few short weeks ago.

With a blazing fire-ball and a smart-working curve, the youthful giant on the mound for Wetaskiwin never wavered once as he bore down on Webb King's Shasta-Royals in a game at Renfrew Park and turned in a no-hit, no-run performance. His team won by a score of 4-0.

Strangest part of all was that it proved the second time in three days that this most coveted of all baseball feats has been accomplished in the big new ball park, Herman Loblick of Royals having been the other successful moundsman Sunday against Wainwright.

Webber looked like a winner all the way after he had been given a two-run lead in the first inning, but fans thought they were going to be fortunate enough to see a perfect hurling feat. However, an inning after inning slipped by they began pulling for him to achieve the near-impossible task. He never once looked to be in danger until the eighth.

In that frame, after two were out, he issued his only walk of the contest to Joe Shrandro, Royal third sacker. Glen Wilkie, pitcher, faced him next and crashed a hard drive to centre that looked like a certain hit. Everyone counted without Pete McCready, though. The speedy centre-fielder raced far to his side to make a spectacular running catch and the inning and all danger was over.

The local side was retired in order in the ninth and his mates swarmed around to congratulate him.

SHANDRO ON TWICE

Twice during the nine frames, Royal feet reached first base safely—and both times they belonged to Shandro. Aside from his walk, he cracked a ground ball to Cleland in the third frame, which the Wetaskiwin third-sacker bobbled and then threw short to first.

Webber struck out seven men, as well as contributing a share to his own team's attack. He drew one walk, got to first once by striking at a wild pitch on a third strike, laid down a sacrifice, and also counted a run that followed a great display.

His batterry mate, Ray Anderson, caught him well throughout and smashed out a three-bagger in the first inning. Pete McCready, in addition to his fine catch in the outfield, poled out a lusty double, while Ray Anderson and Kronfeld singled to complete the winners' attack.

TOUGH ON WILKIE

It just about needed a no-hit performance to win the battle, at that, for Glen Wilkie pitched a game for Royals that would have been good enough for a victory nine out of ten times.

The slab-artist allowed a scant four hits, gave up only one free pass to first, and struck out six of the opposing batters.

The four hits he did allow, though, were evenly divided between the first and ninth frames. In between those, the visiting cloutters failed to get so much as a lone safety.

Cleland led off for Wetaskiwin in the opening session but flied to left for an out. McCready, next up, hammered a long fly that Stewart, in left, could not get under, though he made a fine recovery to hold Pete at second. Ike Davis then grounded to short, McCready going to third on the play, and scoring when Shandro booted Kip Anderson's grounder, which would have been a third out.

Ray Anderson came to bat then and his hard-hit triple sent his namesake all the way home from first base, making two runs. Kronfeld grounded for the third out.

ONE RUN IN SECOND

In the second frame, Webber drew a walk and advanced to second on a sacrifice by Bergen, stealing third on the play. McKay filed out to right field which allowed Webber to dash across the plate before Wilkie fanned the next man to end the inning.

That was all the scoring until the ninth, when Kip Anderson opened with an infield single. Ray Anderson sacrificed him to second and he went to third on another scratch single by Kronfeld. Webber then laid a perfect bunt down the first base line that scored Anderson and finished the counting for the night.

WANTS TORONTO BOUT CANCELLED

CHICAGO, July 10.—Joe Foley, promoter of the Joe Louis-King Levinsky heavyweight fight scheduled for the night of August 5, Comiskey Park here, is endeavoring to have Louis cancel an exhibition scheduled for Toronto, Monday, July 22.

Foley said he wished the bout withdrawn to avoid the chance of Louis being injured, and also so he can settle down to a training camp in Chicago. Foley Tuesday posted a $20,000 bond with the Illinois Athletic Commission, binding the match.

Max Baer Will Have Hospital Treatment

Journeys to Johns Hopkins Hospital on Friday For His Hands

NEW YORK, July 10.—Max Baer, the former heavyweight champion of the world is going to Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore, on Friday for treatment of his injured hands.

"We've been told of so many ways to have them fixed up," said Ancil Hoffman, the fighter's manager, "that we've decided to go to Johns Hopkins. Some doctors say to put them in a cast for 30 days and then they'll be alright, while others declare an operation is necessary."

Hoffman said he received a cablegram Tuesday from Walter Rothenburg, German promoter, announcing proposed arrangements for a Baer-Max Schmeling fight in Amsterdam, Holland, in September. Rothenburg guaranteed Baer $100,000, Hoffman said.

"It sounds good—like all the others do—but we'll have to see how Max's hands respond to treatment," Hoffman said.

RIDLEY WINS OVER REGINA BY 130 TO 79

Young Eastern Collegiate Stars Show Class In Victory

REGINA, July 10.—By a margin of 51 runs, the touring Ridley College cricketers defeated the Regina select under a broiling sun Tuesday. It was hot but otherwise a perfect day for cricket.

Batting first, the young tourists ran up 130 runs and then dismissed the Regina side for 79. They went in to bat again and amassed 122 before stumps were pulled but the second innings did not count.

VISITORS' HIGH BAT

Wilson was high bat for the easterners in the first innings, running up 27 before being bowled by Cockshawn. Other leading scorers were Cameron 18, Mitchell 17, Purcell 16 and Cassells 14.

In the second innings, Purcell drew a hand from the crowd for his sparkling 46. This together with Wilson's 34 saved the side from a disastrous innings for six wickets were down for 28 when they formed the non-producing partnership.

A feature of the day was when W. Scandrett was bowled for a duck in both innings.

Two veterans shone at bat for Regina, Don Leighton had 21 and Foster 18.

BOWLING STAR

Bowling honors of the day went to a veteran Reginan in Chris Holmes who took six Ridley wickets for 28 in the second innings. Cameron and Wilson did all the bowling for the tourists. Cameron taking four for 37 and Wilson six for 27. Regina batted 11 men.

During the day the visitors were feted by several sporting organizations.

JUNIORS PLAY PROTEST GAME RENFREW PARK

A bitter junior baseball battle—the protest game between Arrow Busses and Safeways—will be played tonight at Renfrew Park, starting at 6:30 o'clock.

Defeated some weeks ago by Safeways, Coach John Ducey of the Arrows protested the game on rules, and the clubs are to battle it out this evening as the executive between John Ducey the protest and ruled the game be replayed.

There is plenty of bitter feeling between the two clubs and the warfare tonight is hoped to be the feature game of the junior league schedule.

Ralph Morgan, the flinger who beat Arrows in the protested game, will probably be hurling tonight, Morgan has had several days of good rest and will be in rare form for the clash. Hippy Lantz, one of the best backstops of the league, will be catching.

It is also thought Arrows' brother battery act—Bill and John Lupul—will be working for the Busmen. Bill will be doing the twirling and John the catching.

Postponed Fight

NEW SPRINT STAR BEATS JESSE AGAIN

Owens Loses in Century Dash, But is Winner In Broad Jump

NEW YORK, July 10.—Jesse Owens of Ohio State and his U. S. national championship conqueror, Eulace Peacock of Temple, broke even in two events last night in their final duel of the 1935 track and field season, but were obliged to share the honors of a rain-drenched all-star meet, conducted on New York University's Ohio field, with two brilliant record performances.

GETAWAY HELPS

Peacock capitalized his speedier getaway, and withstood Owens' sensational finishing drive to win the 100-yard dash by a scant foot in 9.7 seconds. The "Buckeye Bullet" came back on a slippery takeoff to square accounts in the broad jump with a leap of 25 feet 9 ins. Peacock's best was 25 feet, 6¾ ins.

An unheralded foot-racer from the far west, Norman Bright of Bellingham, Wash., carrying the colors of the San Francisco Olympic Club, electrified the crowd of several hundred by romping to victory over Joe McCluskey of the New York A. C. in United States record time for the two-mile run.

SPURTS AT FINISH

Bright left McCluskey flat-footed on the last lap to win by 30 yards in 9 minutes, 13.2 seconds. This clipped more than two seconds from the former U. S. outdoor mark of 9:15.4.

A new world record was claimed for the flashy New York A. C. quartet in the 4 mile Swedish relay. The event, new to the United States, is not on the official world record list authorized by the International A.A.F. but the winners' time of 1 minute, 26.1 seconds was six-tenths of a second faster than the best previous listed performance.

SUFFOLK DOWNS TRACK IS READY

BOSTON, July 10—Less than 10 weeks after breaking ground on a boggy, stump-filled swamp, contractors turned over the complete Suffolk Downs, one of the largest and finest race tracks in the world, to the Eastern Racing Association last night on the eve of its 28-day opening meeting.

The immense grandstand, which seats 16,000, faces a huge and pitch-perfect quarter-mile oval and can accommodate 50,000 standers. The elaborate clubhouse has accommodations for 7,500 more. Its builder claims that a crowd of 100,000 can be packed within its gates.

LONDON, July 10.—At the close of the second day's play in the annual varsity match between Cambridge and Oxford at Lord's. The scores were:

FURTHER UPSETS TUESDAY IN CITY NET TOURNEY

Defeat of Oliver In Men's Singles Biggest Surprise

Seeded No. 3 Player Bows to T. E. Edwards In Straight Sets, 6-1, 6-4—All Seeded Women Stars in Semi-finals

Plentifully supplied with upsets and elimination of the seeded gentry thus far, the galleryites at the annual Edmonton and District Tennis Championships were given further occasion for surprise on Tuesday when more of the fancied players bowed gracefully out of major events and will spend the rest of the tournament on the sidelines.

Rising to the heights, T. E. Edwards, dynamic Scona Centre player eliminated John Oliver seeded No. 3 in the draw, from the men's open singles and the seeded doubles team of Brissette and McMahon got bumped out of the open doubles by Purcell-Edmonds.

PURCELL-EDMONDS WIN BY 6-4, 6-3, 6-2.

Edwards scored a 6-1, 6-4 victory, while Purcell-Edmonds bettered their way through at 6-8, 6-2, 6-2.

The seeded women players fared better than the men, all four getting to the semi-finals.

Oliver was the third of the eight seeded players in the men's open singles to be eliminated. Roger Watson was beaten by Shorty Purcell on Saturday and Fred Casselman was eliminated by Bobby Adamson on Monday.

In the women's singles, Mrs. Johnson filled her semi-final bracket by defeating Ruth Fry at 6-0, 6-1; Bessie McAvoy advanced by beating Clara Thorburn at 6-2, 6-2; Helen Wolfe getting her place by defeating Mrs. Taylor at 4-6, 6-4, 8-6 and Josephine Carrigan winning over Edna Kenwood at 6-3, 4-6, 6-3.

The men's singles are down to the eights with the exception of two quarters.

KINLOCH WINS

Harry Kinloch reached the eights by a win over Jack Muir, strong Civil Service player, at 6-0, 6-2. W. E. Harrison also reached the last eight by defeating Jimmy Hoyle, another Civil Service ace, at 6-1, 6-4. Edwards also reached the eights by his win over Oliver and will meet the winner of Purcell-Robinson.

Stan. Moher will play Fred Mitchell for the right to pass into the eights and Bob Adamson will have to get by Red McMahon.

In eliminating Oliver from the men's open singles, Edwards played brilliantly. Edwards, who performs at the Scona Centre Club, has been an entrant in city tourneys for years and always has been ready to upset any player not just on the top of his game. He has been particularly strong in doubles.

WINS FIRST EARLY

On Tuesday his service whipped over the net like a rifle bullet; his drives and chops were sudden and back tapes and fairly smoked as they flew from his flashing racket.

Pulling up early in the barrage, he had little difficulty in winning the first set at 6-1. A counter-attack by Oliver gave him a 5-2 advantage in the second set, but this was rapidly brought under control when Edwards unleashed another furious rally that carried him through four straight games for the match. Edwards probably has never played better and going as he did on Tuesday he will give any player in the tournament plenty of trouble.

The fancied doubles team of Brissette-McMahon got away to a splendid start and volleyed and drove the younger team of Purcell-Edmonds all over the court.

McMahon's service was whip-like in its crack as it nicked the service-line time and again, while Brissette's punching volleys were unanswerable.

But keeping up this sort of thing was obviously impossible. They could not maintain the speed, and gradually the Purcell - Edmonds team began to inexorably wear them down. Then the match was squared with Purcell-Edmonds taking the second set at 6-3. Continuing their heavy counter-offensive, the Purcell-Edmonds duo romped through the third set at 6-2, well satisfied in the knowledge they had bumped one of the fancied combinations of the early tourney.

GIVEN HARD FIGHT

Walter McIntosh, one of the seeded stars, was given a rough passage by the hard-swatting and indefatigable Preston Giffen. McIntosh won at 4-6, 6-2, 6-1, but only after the toughest kind of a fight. Giffen drives off both forehand and backhand ripped across the court like high velocity shells and McIntosh's every stratagem had to be, is, was forced to call on all his resources to stem the tide. It was one of those fine matches to win and tough ones to lose.

Kinloch won comfortably at 6-0, 6-2 from Jack Muir, but the powerful, blonde Civil Service star gave the petit champion a strenuous argument and many pretty driving exchanges were seen.

Fred Robinson flashed some of his many promising figure that are within its ranks. Time will develop these potential strong players and the league aims to hold them.

Vancouver Girls Gain Even Break In Tennis Meet

EDGBASTON, England, July 10. —Two Vancouver women's tennis stars Tuesday broke even in the Midland Counties Tennis championship.

Miss Eleanor Young sent through the second round of the women's singles by defeating Miss Bowden, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3. Miss Young put up a great battle to advance to the third round. Miss Carpenter, however, was defeated by Miss Gleed Hangreen, 6-2, 6-3.

Teamed with Bobby Muray, young Montrealer, Miss Young was defeated in the second round of the mixed doubles by R. M. Winstanley and Miss Woodhall, 7-5, 3-6, 9-7.

Chicago White Sox Beat Royals, 10-2, Exhibition Battle

GIRLS CLOSE FINE SEASON IN SOFTBALL

Leaders Are Decided in All Divisions After Monday Games

With the exception of two or three postponed games, the Federation of Community Girls' Softball league drew to a close Monday night as far as the schedule goes.

In the west section Calder leads the parade with eight wins, one draw and one loss. This Ranking-Young combination have been dishing up wonderful ball and just look plenty good. In the east section the Cloverdale girls walked away with the honors, with the same gusto as Calder; having won eight games, drawing one and losing only one.

Mr. Overall's aggregation have an enviable record. Scona Centre, coached by Mr. Doughty, took second place in the west section, and, being their first taste of competition ball, speaks well for the splendid showing they made.

These girls feel hopeful of being champions this year and are just rarin' to go.

In the east section the second place team will either be North Edmonton or Eastwood, depending upon a North-Edmonton-Riverdale game.

Eastwood and Bonnie Doon showed the greatest improvement in the brand of ball they are playing, due to the dogged perseverance of these teams. Mrs. Mason, of Eastwood, just got right after her crew and the result was very apparent.

Mrs. Spieman-Steele combination got the Bonnie Doon girls down to work and if the schedule were longer these girls in all probability would be in there after the title.

It is the ambition of the executive to serve the home folks with a high-class brand of ball, and they confidently hope to have the cream of the girls' soft ball players of the city soon. The twelve teams operating this year are conspicuous for the many promising players that are within its ranks. Time will develop these potential strong players and the league aims to hold them.

MOORE AGAIN IS WINNER OF KING'S MEDAL

Scores 176 Out of Possible 200 For His Second Victory in Row

RISLEY CAMP, England, July 10 —Sgt.-Major T. Moore of the small arms school, putting on some sensational shooting in the great Empire meeting of the National Rifle Association, Tuesday captured the King's medal for the best shot in the army at home, in the regular army division.

Sgt. Major Moore posted 176 out of a possible 200 to climb up his second successive win in the event. Monday he won both principal events of the opening day program —the Queen Mary's prize and the Southern Railway.

For the first time a second medal, for territorials only, was offered, and this was taken Tuesday by Rifleman W. Brown of the Queen's Westminsters, with 165.

DOMESTICS WINNERS

Domestic shots also topped the lists in the Tuesday program of the day, the Kinnaird and the B.S.A. service rifle shoots at 500 and 600 yards respectively. Sgt. Kildare of the Inniskilling Dragoons and Gunner Swire of the Royal Navy each posted a 35 out of a 36 on the Kinnaird, and divided first and second prizes totalling $70.

As Monday, few of the Canadians got into the open service rifle shoots yesterday, being content for the most part to practice shooting at long ranges for the intensive shooting that will not open before the end of the week.

HEADS CANUCKS

Lieut. James Boa of Montreal headed the seven Canadians shooting in the Kinnaird and the B.S.A. His score in the Kinnaird was only 31, but he posted 33, one less than high score, in the B.S.A. placing 11th and winning $8.

The Canadian scores Tuesday:

	Kinnaird	B.S.A.

Orange Crush Triumphs By 11-6 After Big Rally In Eighth

Two hits and three errors productive of five runs enabled the league leading Orange Crush girls to chalk up their ninth straight victory in the City Girls' Baseball league when it gave them an 11-6 victory over the E.C.D. nine in their game at Boyle St. Tuesday evening.

Off to an impressive start the Crushes seemed to be headed for an easy triumph but all hopes of this was shattered before the game was very old when the milk merchants with a pair of two-run rallies in the fourth and fifth frames overtook their opponents. They managed to hold the lead until the seventh when the winners scored once to deadlock the count.

The outcome was decided in the eighth when the league leaders took full advantage of three misplays on the part of the E.C.D. fielders and chalked up two safe hits and five runs over the plate. Both teams scored once in the ninth.

Observers Offer Ideas to Improve Annual Ball Game

Make Three Suggestions To Put "Dream Game" On a Scrappier, Popular Basis in Future.

By ALAN GOULD

NEW YORK, July 10—Three suggestions calculated to put the all-star major league ball game on a scrappier, more widely-popular basis were put forward by observers Tuesday in the wake of the third annual big show in the wide open space of the Cleveland stadium.

It is proposed: (1) to give fans throughout the country a chance to vote on the selection of the two teams, as originally done and subsequently discarded; (2) allow for an off-day before the game, so rival pitchers will be in that much better shape to perform, regardless of their regular season assignments and (3) set aside a percentage of the gate receipts, say $10,000, to be split among the players on the victorious side.

MAY PUT UP PRIZE

The all-star game is strictly a charity affair now. All profits go to benevolent funds for old ball players.

As a professional proposition, many baseball men think it would stimulate the game to offer something besides prestige to the victors.

Take the case of Hal Schumacher, ace right-hander of the league-leading New York Giants. Hal was saved for the all-star game by Manager Bill Terry.

He's the best pitcher in the National League, on the basis of current records as well as expert conviction. He was slated to start at Cleveland but he didn't, and the game was lost before he took the mound for a four-inning trick. But Terry's point Schumacher was too tired beforehand by his manager that he was booked to pitch the opening game of a series with Pittsburgh today regardless of how long he worked in the all-star show. Hal asked to be relieved after doing his stint.

CANNOT SQUAWK

Obviously National Leaguers do not relish three beatings in a row but they can't squawk. They selected their own five-man pitching staff for this year's game, without the help of the fans or any outsiders.

Three of the five, Carl Hubbell, Dizzy Dean and Paul Derringer were used Sunday, the day before the game; another, Van Mungo, was forced out by an injury and replaced by the luckless Terry who subsequently and lost the inter-league battle.

The Americans took the game in stride, too, but it looks as if they still carry too much heavy artillery for the opposition to spike.

Lacombe Juniors Tie With Fairview

LACOMBE, July 10. — Lacombe juniors played Fairview to a five-inning 3-3 deadlock in an exhibition baseball game on Monday night. Lacombe got all of their runs in the first inning, the visitors scoring two off Hoppus in the second and one off Cliff in the fifth.

LINEUPS

Fairview — F. Stewart, Fawcett, Lett, Taylor, J. Douglas, Huelling, Munroe, Stewart, F. Huelling.

Lacombe—Wintrys, W. Frizzell, Hoppus, Carter, W. Douglas, Cliff, Perkins, Kriese, Brooks.

Summertime Hoop Play Is Scheduled For Next Olympics

LAWRENCE, Kas., July 10—Summertime basketball, out-of-doors in contrast to the normal winter indoor setting of the game, will be presented in the 1936 Olympic games at Berlin.

Advance copies of the regulations governing the first Olympic basketball competition were received here Tuesday from Dr. Carl Diem, general secretary of the Olympic committee in Berlin.

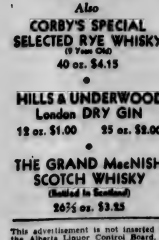

He added that F. C. Allen, athletic director of the University of Kansas, and chairman of the Olympic committee of the National Coaches' and Rules organizations, the contests would be played middle of the Olympic program on the afternoon of August 8-14, inclusive.

Competition will be covered by the rules adopted five years ago by the Federation Internationale de Basketball, of which M. Leon Bouffard, of Switzerland, is president, and R. William Jones, of Great Britain, is general secretary.

Each nation may have a maximum squad of 14 members of whom only seven may be nominated for each game. Teams will be allowed 30-hour intermissions between the games.

TREKKERS WILL RUN GAUNTLET: DEFY MOUNTIES

Advance Guard Will Try To Break Through to Ottawa

WINNIPEG, July 10.—An advance guard of 24 Manitoba relief-camp strikers will attempt to run the gauntlet of a Royal Canadian Mounted Police blockade tonight in an effort to reach Ottawa, according to a statement issued today by spokesmen for the strikers' executive committee.

If the men get through the blockade, the statement added, the other 600 or so men now here will follow. The move will be a "show-down" between the police and strikers, forbidden to leave Winnipeg either by truck or freight trains.

Just how the advance guard proposed to travel was not revealed, nor would the spokesmen reveal the names of any of the travellers. The route they intend to take was being kept secret until later.

A mass meeting was scheduled for market square here tonight to give the advance guard a send-off, and it was expected the full details of the strikers' move would be then made public.

CAMPERS ARE FORCED TO BREAK ICE

CALGARY, July 10—Visitors to the Bragg Creek summer camps, 25 miles southwest of Calgary, literally had to break the ice Monday morning, returning tourists said Tuesday. During the night a thin coating of ice formed on water-pails and hoar frost bedecked the vegetation in some spots. The sun quickly made it disappear.

Canadian Shots Have Bad Day

BISLEY CAMP, England, July 10—Today was an off-day for the Canadians as the 72nd annual Empire meeting of the National Rifle Association continued.

The Canadians will get into the fray when major competitions open at the week-end.

The Canada challenge shield for the team of four making highest aggregate in Monday's Queen Mary's Brixie shoot, under service conditions, was awarded the team from H.M.S. Drake.

Police Identify Floater Body

DRUMHELLER, Alta., July 10.—Police today identified the body found in the Red Deer river near here Monday as that of Steve Taron, Wayne, Alta., farm-hand, but were still puzzled as to how he had met death. Employed at the Ideal mine last year, he obtained work on the farm after being laid off.

Taron, 42 years old, came to Canada from Czecho-Slovakia many years ago. The body was clad only in trousers when taken from the river.

Westward Ho

CALGARY, July 10.—With Vancouver as their objective, and travelling in a battered touring car, four nurses from London, Ont., were westward bound. Banff was the next stop. The girls, Marguerite Smith; Alicia Palmer, Eva Copeland and Annie Simmons, left London June 15.

FOREIGN EXCHANGE

NEW YORK, July 10—Foreign exchange was easy. Great Britain, 4.96⅛; 60-day bills, 4.95⅛; France, 6.63; Italy, 8.26½; Belgium, 16.89; Germany, 40.35; Canada, 99.87½.

BAR SILVER

LONDON, July 10—Bar silver was strong, ⅛ higher at 31⅛d. Bar gold advanced 4 pence to 140s 11d. (U. S. equivalent, $34.97.)

BAR SILVER

NEW YORK, July 10—Bar silver was firm, ⅝ higher at 68¾.

Broomhall

CHICAGO, July 10—The shorts in Liverpool covered yesterday and a healthier situation prevails. There is not expected to be any more "forced selling" for the time being at least. It is difficult to find any wheat offered low enough to be deliverable on the Liverpool market. The Argentine varieties figure about 78 to 80 in store Liverpool, except for a little low grade Baril, which is quoted at 71c, but is not wanted on account of its inferior grade. There have been good rains in Eastern Australia, which will benefit that state and recently there were moderate rains in West Australia, but the heavy producing districts of the south are still suffering from insufficient rainfall. Shippers are offering a little more freely but available supplies for export before the end of November are not abundant, and any resumption of demand would immediately be reflected in the Australian c.i.f. prices. Broomhall's agent reports showers in B. A. Monday night but no confirmation has yet been received owing to yesterday's holiday. It is known that shippers are holding back their offers owing to the drought in the north and also in the Pampa, but our last cable intimated that perhaps the long drought was breaking. There was a better demand for Canadian wheat yesterday from Montreal but total sales were not heavy. Exporters are disinclined to use the new bill of lading demanded by the ship owners fearing that English buyers would refuse the grain on a technicality.

NEW INTEREST IN SILVER SHARES

TORONTO, July 10. — General strength marked today's session of the Toronto Mining Market. Silvers firmed on an advance of the quotation on bar metal. Pioneer and Reno were soft spots in the gold group.

STOCK MARKET MOVES HIGHER ON BIG FRONT

NEW YORK, July 10.—The stock market moved higher over a broad front today under leadership of key industrials, motors and specialties, many of which penetrated their old 1935 highs. Extreme advances were not sustained by all issues, but the main body of stocks closed in the plus column with gains of small fractions to a point. The closing tone was firm. Sales aggregated 1,100,000 shares.

"If EATON'S were asked to define the standard of quality by which it buys merchandise, it could be briefly summed up by saying that EATON standards are YOUR standards. Through daily contact with all classes of customers we are able to follow the trend of public opinion as to the most desired types of merchandise. Then when our buyers go out into the market for a certain line of merchandise they know what you wish to pay, and they have a clear idea of what you expect to get for your money. Sometimes we are able to do better than you expect, and offer some extra value. But the number of times when, through error or oversight, our merchandise fails to live up to claims and expectations can be judged by the very small average of sales transactions that are referred to our Adjusting Bureau.

EATON'S FOR SERVICE"

How Do We Know:

That the sun won't fade the fabric?
The quality of the tar paper?
The percentage of fat in the cocoa?
That the material is all wool?
True Silk from Rayon?

Truthful advertising is a first principle of EATON merchandising. We invite you to look behind the scenes and see how we make scientifically sure of statements regarding such qualities as color fastness, etc.

The Research Bureau Exhibit

July 15th to 20th

Manufacturers' Building, Exhibition Grounds

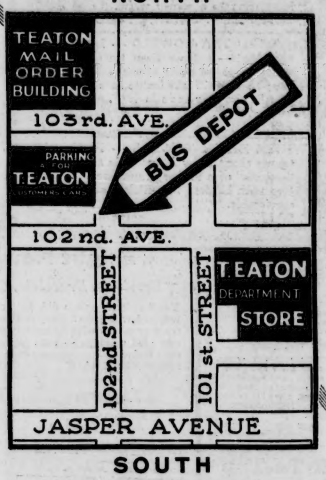

Apparatus and photographs from the Research Bureau at Winnipeg will give you an idea of how we are able to tell the public the exact quality of goods.

DEMONSTRATIONS will include the testing of oils, foodstuffs, textiles, paper, metals, golf balls, many articles of everyday use.

A LIQUID AIR DEMONSTRATION will be of outstanding interest. See antifreeze solutions turned into solid ice; flower petals frozen till they crumble like wax: a kettle "boil" on a cake of ice!

ENLARGED PHOTOGRAPHS will show equipment used in the Winnipeg Laboratory for laundry tests, bacteriological tests, etc. Photographs of textile fibres enlarged several hundred times will be a part of the exhibit.
